Leonardtown Celebrates 10 Years of Arts and Entertainment

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

A decade ago, the Town of Leonardtown applied for and won from the state the official designation of being an Arts and Entertainment (A&E) District, which has boosted the town's profile statewide and helped bring in business and tourism to keep its revitalization dreams alive.

This weekend marks a celebration of the success the designation has brought the town, to be held at the town wharf Sept. 2 and complete with fireworks, food and musical acts.

The celebration of attaining the A&E designation, though, will last the entire month of September, according to the town government.

Mary Maday Slade, town commissioner, was enthusiastic for the celebration to unfold.

"I'm excited for it," Slade said. "We've got the sidewalk chalk contest this weekend, which was great last year.

"I can't wait to see what everyone brings out."

The contest gives children and adults the chance to draw their own works of art on town sidewalks in chalk; all for the chance to win a prize.

The designation has helped the town with its key goals of boosting business and its revitalization.

"It's given us the opportunity to apply for all kinds of grants," Slade said. "And it showcases art in Leonardtown."

The town warned that the wharf will be closed to traffic over the weekend — much the same as it was when the World's Largest Rubber Duck came — with trolley service extended to aid in visitors coming to the celebration.

"In anticipation of increased traffic for the concert/fireworks at the Wharf on Saturday, Sept. 2, an additional trolley will be running to transport attendees up and down the hill from the corner of Washington St. and Courthouse Dr. to the Wharf and back from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m."

Law Enforcement, State's Attorney Targeting Bad Drivers

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The Slow Down St. Mary's program is working to take the steam out of bad driving on county roads according to the first reports of law enforcement activity.

Sheriff's deputies and state troopers wrote a total of 630 tickets after the first week of the program, which combines the efforts of the two agencies in cooperation with the state's attorney's office to cite and prosecute alleged offenders.

Law officers wrote 424 tickets for speeding, 36 for use of a cell phone while driving, 35 for running a red light or a stop sign, six tickets for unsafe lane changes and nine for failure to observe the "Move Over" law which states that drivers must either slow down or move away from police or emergency vehicles stopped on the side of the road in the performance of their duty.

There were 47 tickets written for miscellaneous infractions, the sheriff's office reported for a total of 557 traffic stops in the program's first week.

Law officers also issued 30 repair orders, the sheriff's office report stated.

They also issued a total of 124 written warnings.

The sheriff's office reported that the State's Attorney's Office would now closely pursue monetary fines and points for violations to ensure there was punishment to follow law enforcement actions.

St. Mary's Student Test Scores Improve

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

In the post COVID-19 pandemic world, educators have struggled to bring student achievement back to acceptable levels and the latest round of Maryland Comprehensive Assessment Program results show they may be succeeding.

The improvements in mathematics and English language arts are small for the school year 2023 MCAP results but local educators and administrators are pleased to see them.

In the English language arts category grades 3 through 5 showed a one-percent improvement in number of students who gained a proficient score, from 49 percent to 50 percent over last school year.

Grades 6 through 8 had better performance in language arts with 56 percent of students in those levels gaining proficiency in the tests, four percent higher than last school year.

The high school level, 10th grade language arts assessment student proficiency level rose from 60 percent to 65 percent.

This puts St. Mary's County among the highest proficiency levels of counties, the latest reports from the state show. There are just six counties higher than St. Mary's in proficiency for 10th grade language arts; Calvert is the highest with 82 percent.

There are eight counties higher than St. Mary's in the grades 3 through 8 language arts assessment, with Worcester County the highest with 68 percent student proficiency.

Calvert came in at 61 percent in that category.

There are four performance levels measured in the MCAP, only level 3 and level 4 are desirable; level 3 is considered proficient with a score range between 750-789 on an assessment.

Level 4 is considered distinguished with a score of 790 to 850 on any of the assessments.

Both of these levels comprise the percentage of students considered to be proficient by the state.

"We are... showing incremental growth over the previous year, demonstrating our commitment to closing learning gaps created by the pandemic," said Superintendent Dr. J. Scott Smith.

Statewide, the mathematics assessments for all grades are where student performance suffer the most and St. Mary's County is no different, the latest numbers show.

For the math assessments for grades 3 through 8 just 33 percent of St. Mary's students performed adequately; six counties performed better than St. Mary's with Calvert earning a 36 percent student proficiency rating.

Worcester County had the best student proficiency rating at 47 percent.

In the Algebra assessment, St. Mary's students fared much worse with just 20 percent of students who took the exam earning a proficiency rating.

Neighboring Calvert bested St. Mary's again with a 22 percent proficiency rating; Howard County had the highest rate with 38 percent student proficiency.

The breakdown of St. Mary's math assessment numbers is a bit more encouraging.

For grades 3 through 5 student math proficiency rose to 37 percent from 36 percent from the previous year.

Grades 6 through 8 rose from 24 percent proficiency in the 2022 school year to 27 percent in school year 2023, the latest report shows.

In Algebra 1 the proficiency rate rose from 17 to 20 percent.

In the 5th and 8th grade science assessment, the results put St. Mary's County near the top of student performers at a 43.5 student proficiency rate; just four counties outperformed St. Mary's in that category.

Calvert achieved a 41.8 proficiency rate in the 5th and 8th grade science assessment.

It was in this assessment that St. Mary's saw some of its highest gains, with 44 percent of students in 5th grade reaching proficiency over the previous year's 36 percent.

Grade 8 student dropped in achievement, however, from 49 percent proficient to just 37 percent scoring adequately, the data shows.

Still, in many of these assessments St. Mary's students showed they were performing better than the state average.

"St. Mary's County Public Schools continues to outpace the state average on all MCAP and MISA assessments," said Smith. "Consistently placing in the top ten counties for Maryland."

More detailed findings on student achievement through the MCAP, the latest in a long line of assessments chosen by the Maryland State Department of Education to measure learning progress, is scheduled for release on Sept. 26 and again in December.

Science Grade 5 Assessment, SY 2022-2023 Proficiency by LEA

Statewide, the percentage of students scoring proficient on the grade 5 science test was 34.5% for SY 2022-2023. LEAs vary from a low of 11.7% to a high of 54.1% in proficiency percentage. Twenty-two LEAs improved their performance when comparing SY 2021-2022 to SY 2022-2023.

Algebra I Assessment by LEA, SY 2022-2023

Statewide, the percentage of students scoring proficient on the Algebra I test was 17% for SY 2022-2023. LEAs vary from a low of 6% to a high of 38% in proficiency percentage. Twenty-three LEAs improved when comparing SY 2021-2022 to SY 2022-2023 results.

English 10 Assessment by LEA, SY 2022-2023

Statewide, the percentage of students scoring proficient on the English 10 test was 54% for SY 2022-2023. LEAs vary from a low of 31% to a high of 82% in proficiency percentage. Eighteen LEAs improved from SY 2021-2022 when comparing to SY 2022-2023 results.

Smith said he was confident that St. Mary's could continue its steady, upward achievement trend

"We realize there remains much work ahead but we are not alone in our challenges and our teachers and those who support them are relentless," Smith said.

The most fundamental issue the school system struggled with, though, was ensuring all students attended class regularly and on time, avoiding unnecessary or unexcused absences.

This has been a particular problem at the high school level post pandemic.

"As a reminder to all parents, the most consistent predictor of academic success is regular attendance and we need you to make this a priority in your home," Smith said.

COVID Hits County Government

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The Department of Land Use and Growth Management (LUGM) was effectively closed down for a day this week, said Commissioner Mike Hewitt, because several county employees who worked there either had COVID-19 or were symptomatic and avoided the office.

Hewitt made the announcement at the end of the regular business meeting of the Commissioners of St. Mary's County Aug. 29.

"We had five people out at LUGM yesterday," Hewitt said. "We've even had issues here in county government.

"We had to close LUGM [Monday.]"

Hewitt warned that COVID-19 was still a present health threat.

"COVID-19 is still out there, we still need to keep track of it."

The latest news comes as fears about COVID-19 resurgence have grown, the U.S. Centers for Disease Control are tracking a new variant of the illness, known as BA. 2.86.

"We're seeing more cases of COVID-19 coming back up in the county," said Commissioner Eric Colvin. "It's hitting county government and some of our schools."

But, Colvin said, work was still getting done with employees working remotely.

"The doors are still open, timelines have not changed and everything will still get done," Colvin said.

In consultation with Dr. Meena Brewster, the county's chief health officer, Colvin said that the county is not seeing an increase in hospitalizations due to COVID-19.

"Last Mile" Internet Connections Still to Be Completed

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

St. Mary's County continues to move towards 100 percent connectivity when it comes to internet access for all residents but the county's information technology chief told elected leaders this week that about 1,100 homes are still without that service.

Bob Kelly, director of the Department of Information Technology, said that those residents who would benefit from the so-called "last mile" connection have been difficult to contact regarding the county's overture about whether they want that service.

Kelly made his presentation to the Commissioners of St. Mary's County seeking the reallocation of about $100,000 in federal COVID disaster money from "middle mile" connections — which are mostly clusters of homes and neighborhoods that are easier to reach — to internet security.

"The challenge we're experiencing with last mile is reaching the homeowner, these last, about 1,100 homes we're looking to get connected... just getting them to respond," Kelly said. "It may take going out and knocking on doors."

Kelly said his staff have engaged in door knocking before but to a "wider degree" to reach a cluster of homes at the same time.

Kelly said: "1,100 homes is a lot of door knocking."

Kelly said that the initial effort to connect last mile homes focused on homes that were about 500 feet from the cable junction at the intersection with the main road; now the information technology staff is focusing on homes as far as 4,500 feet from the main road service junction.

Some of these connections would be so far away that they would cost between $50,000 to $60,000, said County Administrator David Weiskopf.

"Holy smokes," exclaimed Commissioner Mike Hewitt at the cost.

Kelly said that since the project to quickly expand internet connection cable began during the COVID-19 pandemic roughly 2,500 homes have been newly connected to the service.

The last mile homes are the most difficult, Kelly said, not just because of distance but also because of property boundary issues and even hurdles such as crossing streams.

"Connect as many people as you can, as quickly as you can; that is our mantra," Kelly said. "Whatever issues exist, we work with the vendor, we work with the homeowner to get them connected."

Regional Ag Center Project Progressing, But Slowly

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

A project to construct a mecca for regional farmers to sell their goods — including locally raised meats — has been in the works for several years now in the north end of St. Mary's but issues with the land upon which it is to be built have slowed its progress.

The Regional Agricultural Center (RAC) project was highly sought after by regional governments to support their agricultural base but St. Mary's County won the bid to receive $1 million in design money from the Southern Maryland Agricultural Development Committee, beating out counties as far away as Anne Arundel.

The RAC is to be built on land already owned by the county where the Charlotte Hall Convenience Center currently operates; the land also abuts the property for Lettie Marshal Dent Elementary School.

But that 47-acre parcel has not even been cleared yet, confirmed county public works chief Jim Gotsch; right now, about half a dozen trees have to be removed to make way for the construction of the on-site septic system the facility would require.

There is no public water or sewer in the area.

The trees in question are known as specimen trees, Gotsch said, and are over 30 inches in diameter at about chest height — they must be removed as they were unlikely to survive there once the facility were built.

Also, if their roots were left in the ground, they were likely to break through the pipes of the septic system and foul its operations, county planning documents stated.

The county Board of Appeals will have to grant a variance for their removal to comply with state law.

"They're [the state] wanting to preserve forest and it's better to save old growth forest than to replant smaller trees.

"It's already established."

The cost of the project is a little over $5 million, Gotsch said, and while it has been fully funded the state has yet to "cut the last check" to have it in place.

The state, specifically the legislature, wants to have more proof of progress before releasing any additional funds, Gotsch said.

Condominiums, Car Dealership Planned for California

The proposed site for a new car dealership

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

A proposal to build a 42,000-square foot condominium is under consideration by the county's department of Land Use and Growth Management and could soon make its way to the planning commission for initial approval.

The project is proposed to be placed on a parcel to the rear of the Park Place development in California; the property is well known as a restaurant center as well as host to a hotel and defense contractor office building on Three Notch Road at the intersection of Shady Mile Drive.

The project is officially known as the Park Place Units LLC with ownership under the same name.

According to state property ownership documents, the proposed condominium facility would be in two buildings and would be the eighth and ninth structure on the site.

A county planning staff report going into greater detail on the project has yet to be released.

Another large development — a car dealership — is also planned in California, planning documents show.

More than 47,000 square feet in size, the Kia and Honda brand vehicle dealership would be located on Three Notch Road across from Worth Avenue, planning documents show.

The entire site would be located on about 8.4 acres, with more than five acres of that impervious surface.

The construction of the dealership would necessitate the demolition of a long vacant and dilapidated house on north bound Three Notch Road.

Capitol Heights Man Sentenced to 25 Years for Attempted Murder

State's Attorney Jaymi Sterling announced today that Austin Dylan Winbush, 24, of Capitol Heights, was sentenced to life suspended all but 25 years of active incarceration in prison for attempted first-degree murder.

Following a three-day jury trial, a St. Mary's County jury convicted Mr. Winbush on March 23, 2023, of attempted first-degree murder, use of a firearm in the commission of a crime of violence and having a loaded handgun. The charges stemmed from a May 5, 2021, shooting that took place in Lexington Park, MD.

Senior Assistant State's Attorney Jeff Maylor, Chief of the Major Crimes Unit, prosecuted the case on behalf of the citizens of St. Mary's County.

The Honorable Amy D. Lorenzini presided over the case.

Corrections Officer Assaulted on the Job

On Friday evening, a Corrections Officer was seriously assaulted by an inmate at the St. Mary's County Detention and Rehabilitation Center.

While standing her post, Corrections Officer Hanna Suite was approached by inmate Kamisha Raquel Thomas (30 year old female) who threw a cup of liquid at C/O Suite and then suddenly and violently attacked the Corrections Officer.

Inmate Thomas repeatedly struck C/O Suite in the face and head in an attempt to gain a position of advantage. C/O Suite was able to summons help using her radio as she was blocking the repeated blows from the inmate. At that time, several females incarcerated in the unit came to the aid of the Corrections Officer and were able to help stop the assault.

C/O Suite was transported to MedStar St. Mary's Hospital where she was treated for several abrasions, a laceration to her left eyebrow, hematomas, and the possibility of a concussion.

Saturday afternoon, Sheriff Steve Hall visited Corrections Officer Suite at her house and awarded her the Sheriff's Office Purple Heart Medal.

Sheriff Hall remarked, "Our Corrections Staff are an integral part of the Sheriff's Office. Day in and day out, they deal with those incarcerated at our Detention and Rehabilitation Center. They are the "silent line" of security—you rarely see them, but they are working 24/7 to protect the community. This was a brutal assault on a Corrections Officer and we are thankful that Hanna did not receive life threatening injuries. I am very proud of the way she stood her ground and refused to give up until help could arrive."

Sheriff Hall added, "I am grateful for the inmates who came to the aid of the Corrections Officer; it's a testament to the respect the inmates had for C/O Suite and that there is a lot of good within the detention center. This incident illustrates what Corrections Officers deal with on a daily basis—the worst and the best of human behavior."

Inmate Thomas was charged with 1st Degree Assault, 2nd Degree Assault, 1st Degree Assault on a DOC employee and 2nd Degree Assault on a DOC employee.

NAVAL AIR STATION PATUXENT RIVER News

PMA-234 Gives Inside Look Into Electronic Attack with Inaugural JAM Fest

Before returning to school, dozens of children received a lesson they would not learn in a classroom. On Aug. 16, the U.S. Navy's Airborne Electronic Attack (AEA) Systems Program Office (PMA-234) welcomed more than 75 family members and guests to the inaugural JAM Fest at Naval Air Station Patuxent River.

The event, dubbed JAM Fest in a nod to radar jammers, was designed to provide family members an inside look at how program office personnel support the U.S. Navy and Marine Corps. It was also an opportunity for the next generation to learn how they could support the warfighter in the future.

"We had a unique opportunity to share with future generations how important and cool our jobs are and how each and every member of this program office supports our warfighters," said PMA-234 Principal Deputy Program Manager Laurie Wassink.

The day started with a visit to the program office, where kids received their own personalized JAM Fest identification badge. Families then met with PMA-234 Program Manager Capt. David Rueter, a couple of deputy program managers, and Royal Australian Air Force members who are a part of the program office. Family members enjoyed seeing pictures of various U.S. Navy missions, videos of the AEA equipment in action, and hearing tales from military personnel.

"It was great to see so many young ones eager to learn about what we do," explained Rueter. "To see the excitement on their faces, I hope this leaves a lasting impression on them."

After departing the program office, families were invited to Air Test and Evaluation Squadron (VX) 23 to see an EA-18G Growler up close. The Growler carries the AEA pods that PMA-234 supports. Military members from VX-23 walked families around the aircraft and explained how the Growler supports the warfighters on the ground and why their mission is vital to the U.S. Navy.

"My favorite part of the day was talking to the pilot while looking in the Growler cockpit," said sixth grader Mitchell Agamaite. "I learned so much about what it takes to fly the aircraft."

Following the Growler tour, the learning opportunities continued with the Naval Air Warfare Center Aircraft Division's (NAWCAD) Mobile Digital Fabrication Laboratory (FABLAB). The NAWCAD innovation team showed visitors how the FABLAB can turn concepts into prototypes with a CO2 laser, microcontrollers, and 3D printers. Visitors watched the 3D printer in action and took home 3D printed jets.

Families were treated to a fly-by and landing of a UH-1Y Venom, which carries the Intrepid Tiger II pod, also supported by PMA-234. Air Test and Evaluation Squadron (HX) 21 welcomed the opportunity for families to tour the aircraft and build a stronger relationship between HX-21 and PMA-234.

"It was so cool, and I couldn't believe it landed right in front of us!" Fourth grader Jeremiah Shrum exclaimed. "I loved climbing in the back of the helicopter and trying on the flight gear. I think I want to be a pilot when I grow up."

JAM Fest wrapped up the day with a picnic and camaraderie, and a lesson that is sure to be etched into young minds for years to come.

"If just one child walks away today with the plan to pursue a STEM or military career, then I call it a success," Rueter said. "I also hope today's JAM Fest leaves families with a sense of pride, especially the children. They should be very proud of the work their parents do every day."

Public Invited to Review Flood Maps

Public Forums Scheduled for September 13

The Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is proposing updates to the Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) for St. Mary's County, MD. Community members and partners are invited to participate in a 90-day appeal and comment period.

The updated maps were produced in coordination with local, state, and FEMA officials. Before the maps become final, community members and local organizations can identify any corrections or questions about the information provided and submit appeals or comments. These determinations were made after a multi-year project to re-examine St. Mary's County's riverine (non-coastal) flood zones and develop detailed, digital flood hazard maps. If you are an affected property owner you will receive notification letters, the first round of notification letters was mailed on August 24, 2023.

The 90-day appeal period will begin on or around August 31, 2023. Residents, businesses, and other community partners are encouraged to review the updated maps to learn about local flood risks and potential future flood insurance requirements. They may submit an appeal if they perceive that modeling or data used to create the map is technically or scientifically incorrect.

An appeal must include technical information, such as hydraulic or hydrologic data, to support the claim.

Appeals cannot be based on the effects of proposed projects or projects started after the study is in progress.

If property owners see incorrect information that does not change the flood hazard information—such as a missing or misspelled road name in the Special Flood Hazard Area or an incorrect corporate boundary—they can submit a written comment.

The next step in the mapping process is the resolution of all comments and appeals. Once they are resolved, FEMA will notify communities of the effective date of the final maps.

The preliminary maps may be viewed online via the FEMA Flood Map Changes Viewer at: <http://msc.fema.gov/fmcv>. Submit appeals and comments by contacting your local floodplain administrator, Valerie Caswell, at valerie.caswell@stmaryscountymd.gov. Changes from the current maps may be viewed online via the Region 3 Changes Since Last FIRM (CSLF) Viewer.

For more information about the flood maps:

Most homeowner's insurance policies do not cover flooding. There are cost-saving options available for those newly mapped into a high-risk flood zone. Learn more about your flood insurance options by talking with your insurance agent and visiting floodsmart.gov.

The Tackle Box Fishing Report

By Ken Lamb
Contributing Writer

The bay is alive with fish. From the white perch, puppy drum and even spot and croaker eager to take your Beetle Spin in the creeks to huge cobia in the bay and Blue catfish in the Potomac.

Spanish mackerel and bluefish are fighting over your trolled spoons or surgical eels from Cove Point to Smith Point. Spanish were even caught breaking in the St. Mary's River near the mouth of Carthegenia creek last week.

Cobia are hit or miss, mostly miss ; but enough have been caught to keep hope alive. We have until Sep. 15 to get that trophy. Chummers and trollers are getting hits.

White perch are now active in the creeks and rivers, and they are getting bigger. Got a nice catch on the falling tide on Sunday afternoon with several between 10 and 11 inches. There have been puppy drum in droves, but they have scattered a bit.

Slot reds are lurking in the shallows along with some hefty 20-to-24-inch rockfish. They love bone colored swimming plugs. Speckled trout and flounder have made a showing this week in various locations.

The blue catfish in the Potomac are off the charts. Huge catfish are the norm just south of the 301 bridge. They love fresh alewife. 40-to-60-pound catfish are caught daily.

Alex is catching hefty rockfish from the shore on top water poppers in the Patuxent.

Spot and croaker are carpeting the Patuxent river bottom. Most of the croaker are not up to the nine inch minimum, but the 10-to-12-inchers are increasing. Spot are very good sized, approaching jumbo.

Crabs are big and plentiful.

It appears that Idalia will not approach our area, and the weather forecast is perfect for the entire Labor Day Weekend. Let's go fishing!

A View From The BLEACHERS

THE ENIGMA

By Ronald N. Guy Jr.
Contributing Writer

Hope is alive along the north shore of the Allegheny River. The Pittsburgh Pirates recently selected Paul Skenes, a stud right-handed pitcher from LSU, with the top overall pick in the 2023 MLB draft. Skenes has the kind of stuff to alter a franchise's trajectory - in wins and losses, butts in seats and the national consciousness. Of course, he's a pitcher, a profoundly fickle and fragile position, so the dreams of Bucs fans are, as Elton John might suggest, a candle in the wind. Nevertheless, the flame burns - for now.

This begs the question: What if you could guarantee that Skenes would play 13 years for the Bucs, win 113 games, post a 3.24 ERA, notch multiple 15-win seasons and one 18-win campaign, never win the Cy Young award, record 30 or more starts just three times and pitch over 200 innings in a season just twice? Would Pirates fans take that deal?

The short answer, without any context, is probably a firm "no", followed by a hearty bite of a Primanti Bros. sandwich and a spirited Pittsburghian declaration of "Yinz crazy or something?"

The player who produced those statistics, the one Pirates fans would likely pass on, is Stephen Strasburg, another generational pitching talent and the top pick in the 2009 MLB Draft.

The lacking context, of course, could change the answer. Strasburg's numbers alone are solid, but not spectacular - in whole or in a single season. He was, though, a player who burned white hot. His 14-strikeout debut in 2010 against Skenes' Pirates was pure magic and somehow surpassed the ridiculous expectations. It is not hyperbole to declare that game the moment when D.C. actually became a major league baseball city again - in its and everyone else's mind.

Then there's the playoff version of Strasburg: a 6-2 career postseason record with a ridiculous 1.46 ERA. In the 2019 playoffs, Strasburg was a perfect 4-0 and outdueled future Hall of Fame pitcher Justin Verlander in World Series Games 2 and 6. And there's really no argument that Strasburg's Game 6 masterpiece, with the Nationals facing elimination, is the greatest individual performance in franchise history.

But the injuries - Strasburg has always been as much tragedy as triumph. Just two months after his franchise energizing debut, Strasburg blew out his elbow and was shelved for a year after Tommy John surgery. He came back, but battled through all sorts of ailments in the years that followed. Ultimately 2019 proved to be his last healthy season. A chronic nerve issue in his neck and arm necessitated multiple surgeries and has limited him to just eight starts since that storybook night in Houston in October 2019. Last week, Strasburg, who hasn't pitched since early last season, announced his intent to retire in the coming weeks.

Strasburg's retirement will end one of the most unique careers in professional sports. Using a real estate reference, I can't come up with a "comp". Strasburg was more accomplished than Mark Prior or Kerry Wood, two other talented pitchers with injury-shortened careers. He's certainly more comparable to the shelf life of The Beatles than the Rolling Stones. Was he a disappointment? Not after his World Series performance. But "what could have been" is still very much part of his story.

In the end, Strasburg will remain an enigma, a mashup of franchise-altering accomplishments, a championship parade, unfortunate events and unrealized promise. To wrestle some clarity from Strasburg's career, here are a few thoughts. You just never know - no matter the talent or circumstance - what life will bring. So have a plan and set goals, but remain present and recognize that plans are written in the sand next to a powerful surf. Be steadfast. Work hard. Flat out grind when you must. Celebrate wins and learn from losses. And at the end of the day, the week, the month, the year or a professional career, find peace in knowing you greeted every moment, every curveball from life, with your very best - that is the formula for contentment, the antidote for regret.

Hopefully Strasburg retires with plenty of the former and not a trace of the latter. Send comments to RonaldGuyJr@gmail.com

Eleanor Belknap, 94

Heaven gained a precious angel on August 3, 2023 when Eleanor Keen Belknap of Lexington Park, MD went home to be with her Lord and Savior at age 94. Her children were at her side when she passed.

Eleanor was born on February 12, 1929 in Newton, WV to Harry Bert Keen and Willa Florence Surface. Growing up during the Great Depression she learned the value of hard work, saving money, self-sufficiency and education. She had numerous close cousins and friends during school, most of whom she stayed in touch with over the years. While attending a 65 year high school class reunion she reconnected with a classmate, Hank Smith, and had a wonderful 12 year friendship that included travel to Europe and Alaska, visits in Michigan and Maryland, and many long-distance phone calls which were a lifeline during the pandemic lockdown.

After attending Hollywood Elementary school and graduating as the salutatorian from Spencer High School in 1946, she worked at a drug store and as a substitute teacher in Spencer, then moved on with her cousin (also named Eleanor) to the American Viscose company in Parkersburg and later Libby Owens Ford in Vienna, WV.

While in Parkersburg with her cousin visiting relatives, a handsome young man came running around the corner attempting to escape trouble for lighting up some firecrackers near the house. She was smitten and the rest is history. She married Carroll Paige Belknap on May 25, 1952 in Newton, WV. During the next 19 years of Carroll's service with the Navy, they lived in West Virginia, Oklahoma, Tennessee, DC, Virginia, Florida and Maryland. They settled in Callaway, then Lexington Park, MD where their two children grew up.

She acquired many nicknames over the years including Cricket (for her petite stature and jet-black hair), Crick, Aunt Crick, Elli-nor, Norrie & Ellie. Although tiny, she was a force and had a strong will resulting in a few additional nicknames - the power pint and the velvet hammer.

Eleanor loved volunteering at her children's Elementary school. She then became a teacher's aid at Green Holly School working with special needs children for 15 years.

After the sudden and untimely death of Carroll in 1980, she went back to school to study computer operations and worked as a software tester at Mantech until retirement.

Eleanor was an excellent cook and relished having friends and family over for lunches, dinners and celebrations. She loved gardening and would grow and can fresh vegetables every season. She made each granddaughter a beautiful crocheted baby blanket. She also enjoyed the outdoors, the mountains, camping and fishing. She started the family passion for Shetland sheepdogs in 1964 which continues to this day. She will be remembered for her kindness and generosity, her dedication to her family and children, her honesty and her strong Christian values which were the foundation for her life.

Her greatest passion and conviction was her unwavering faith in God. She LIVED her faith. She was an active parishioner of several local churches including the Lexington Park Baptist church, Lexington Park United Methodist church where she taught Sunday school, Patuxent River Naval Air Station chapel and First Saints Community church where she volunteered in the soup kitchen. She attended numerous bible study groups and Full Gospel Businessmen meetings and made many wonderful friends along the way.

Eleanor is survived by her children Michael S. Belknap of Warrenton, VA and Cheryl L Parra (Rosendo) of Austin, TX, grandchildren Lauren Faudree (Keegan), Megan Wells (Jackson), Allison Parra and Madison Parra all of Austin, TX and one great grandson William Byers Faudree also of Austin, TX. Additionally, she is survived by brother and sisters-in-law James W. Belknap (Yvonne) of Parkersburg, WV and Carol Keen Ward of Valley Lee, MD, nieces Shelley Allen (Scott) of Corsica, PA, nephews Jeremy Belknap of Parkersburg, WV, Bill Keen (Pizzel) of Valley Lee, MD and John Keen (Tracy) of Drayden, MD.

She was predeceased by both parents, her beloved husband Carroll P. Belknap (1980) and her brother Larry D. Keen (2013) whom she adored.

Services will be held at Brinsfield Funeral home in Leonardtown, MD on Thursday September 7; visitation 4:00-5:00pm followed by the funeral service at 5:00pm presided over by Pastor Ruth Dixon. Pallbearers will be Bill Keen, John Keen, Colt Keen, David Cullison, Barry Voithoffer and Kevin Warren. Interment will be September 9 at 1:00pm at the Tariff cemetery in Tariff, WV.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations can be made in her memory to Heifer International, Gideons International, Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International, The 700 Club or the Soup Kitchen at First Saints Community Church.

Condolences to the family may be made at www.brinsfieldfuneral.com.

Dick Padgett, 92

Richard Lee "Dick" Padgett, 92, long-time resident of Scotland Beach and Gaithersburg, MD, died peacefully on June 27, 2023, at his home in Gaithersburg. Born on December 24, 1930, he was the son of the late Harry F. and Eileen (LaHayne) Padgett. Predeceased by his son, Richard L., Jr., Dick was survived by his sweetheart of many decades, Helen; his three daughters: Jacqueline (Mark), Jeanne, and Yvonne (Mark); and his three granddaughters: Catie (Brian), Ginny and Ashley.

Raised in Washington, DC, he attended Bancroft Elementary, Raymond Elementary, Powell Junior High and Central High schools (Class of 1950). He spent his summers with his family at Cobb Island, MD, and it is there that that he fell in love with the water, with boating, fishing and crabbing, and the Chesapeake Bay.

A proud veteran, Dick served in United States Marine Corps during the Korean War, receiving multiple awards for his service and was a lifetime member of the VFW (Gaithersburg 9862) and The Chosin Few. After returning to civilian life, Dick married, started a family, and joined National Geographic Society. Employed as an apprentice engineer, he went on to become chief engineer of the NGS membership center in Gaithersburg. During his career at NGS, he was assigned to the NGS Space Photographic Pool for the NASA Gemini-6A launch in 1965, Apollo 8, 9, and 13, being responsible for the electrical systems for remote photography of the launches.

In 1968, NGS built their membership center in Gaithersburg, with a state-of-the-art heating and cooling system, and Dick was promoted to chief engineer. The man-made lake in front of the building was not only a gem on the landscape but served as an element in the ecological chain, utilizing the lake water as a heat sump for the electric HVAC system. The building was warmed in cooler temperatures by recycling the heat generated by people, lights and computers—a system that conserved energy and saved on electric bills. Dick was later responsible for overseeing the installation of a power grid to run the banks of computers used to process membership applications after the Society ceased using their antiquated keypunch system. Later came the removal of the asbestos in the building, and Dick managed the teams to have it safely removed. With a staff of 17 engineers, machinists, painters, carpenters, and mechanics, he oversaw the Membership Center's boiler rooms and maintenance of the rest of the building. In 1990, Boland Services named NGS and Dick Padgett as one of the first winners of Boland Services Engineer's Award of Excellence. After 39 years of employment, Dick retired in 1993.

Decades of fishing trips, vacations and weekends at Scotland Beach with many of his friends from NGS, Dick decided to retire there and had his retirement home built by local builder and good friend, Bruce Stouten. Dick lived there full time for over 10 years. He enjoyed the peaceful life near the Bay, and could often be found walking the beach or enjoying a beer and some tall tales with his friends and neighbors. In his later years he divided his time between his two homes in Scotland Beach and Gaithersburg.

In addition to Scotland Beach and the Chesapeake Bay, his passions included his Cadillacs and Big Band music of the 1940s. He was handy in all things mechanical and always willing to lend a hand. Dick was loyal friend, a loving father and devoted son and partner.

The family will hold a Celebration of Life at his beloved Scotland Beach in October. Memorial contributions can be made to: Ridge Volunteer Fire Department, Children's National Hospital Foundation, The Chosin Few, and The Chesapeake Bay Foundation. Have you ever lusted, looked at swimsuit calendars, or the shirtless firefighters calendar. As yourself, are you objectifying them?

St. Leonard Man Sentenced for Weapons Charge

Michael Ian Harts, 31, of St. Leonard, on Aug. 28 received a sentence of 10 years incarceration, suspended to three years of active time, for illegal possession of a short-barreled rifle and possession with intent to distribute a controlled substance. The sentence was imposed by Calvert County Circuit Court Judge Mark W. Carmean.

Harts was arrested by Calvert County Sheriff's deputies in February 2023, following a traffic stop. A court-authorized search warrant was executed at Harts' residence which led to the discovery of the illegal weapon.

Harts will be on 5 years of supervised probation upon his release from prison. Due to the nature of his conviction, he will be prohibited from possessing a firearm of any kind. If Harts is found to have violated any condition of probation, all or part of the unserved portion of his jail sentence may be reimposed.

Loaded Guns Recovered After Traffic Stop

Anayah Ann Battle

Maryland State Police recovered two loaded handguns and arrested a man and a woman following a traffic stop on Sunday in Calvert County.

Troopers from the Prince Frederick Barrack at about 12:20 a.m. Sunday pulled over a Chrysler that was seen swerving and moving erratically in the area of Route 4 and Lancaster Drive in Saint Leonard.

According to a preliminary investigation, troopers observed a handgun lodged between the center console and the driver's seat. The firearm was loaded and missing a serial number. Troopers then initiated a search of the vehicle, which yielded a second, loaded handgun in a purse.

The driver of the vehicle, Anthony Jerome Hill, 43, and the passenger, Anayah Ann Battle, 40, both of Washington, D.C., were arrested on charges of illegal possession of a firearm and taken to the Calvert County Detention Center for processing.

A Virginia man died Sunday morning as the result of injuries sustained in a two-car collision on Route 231 east of Hallowing Lane in Prince Frederick. The deceased is identified as Lionel Crawford Mitchell, 74, of Haymarket, Va.

According to a report from the Prince Frederick Barrack of the Maryland State Police, "On August 27, 2023, at approximately 1118 hours, troopers responded to a motor vehicle collision on eastbound Rt. 231, east of Hallowing Ln., in Prince Frederick. Upon their arrival, they learned that a 1998 Nissan Maxima was traveling westbound on Rt. 231 when the operator lost control of the vehicle, causing it to enter the eastbound lane of Rt. 231 where it struck 1975 Triumph TR6, that was traveling eastbound, on the driver's side.

"As a result of the collision, the adult male operator of the Triumph was pronounced deceased. The Triumph's front seat passenger was flown by Maryland State Police Aviation Command Trooper 2 to the University of Maryland R. Adams Cowley Shock Trauma Center in Baltimore for treatment of her injuries and currently listed in critical condition. The operator of the Nissan was uninjured."

The operator of the Nissan is identified as Travis Wayne Carr, 25, of Charlotte Hall. The injured passenger in the Triumph is identified as Nancy Mitchell, 72, also of Haymarket, Va.

The state police report, "Driver error and vehicle condition is being investigated as contributing factors in this collision. The Calvert County State's Attorney's Office was notified and is consulting as the investigation continues."

Prince Frederick Barrack personnel were assisted on scene by deputies from the Calvert County Sheriff's Office and personnel from the Maryland Department of Transportation State Highway Administration.

This investigation is being continued by TFC R. Backus, a Collision Reconstruction Specialist assigned to the Prince Frederick Barrack. # County's Long-Range Planner Retires

Guided Master Plan, Zoning Updates

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The public face of planning and zoning for many years is retiring after almost 30 years in that county office. The Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) honored Long-Range Planner Jenny Plummer-Welker at their Aug 29 meeting.

Plummer-Welker served under six different planning directors and nine commissioner boards.

Commissioner Mike Hart showed his fondness for Plummer-Welker in presenting the proclamation in her honor. He noted, "Jenny was instrumental in overseeing the process which led to the development and adoption of many of the county's most important and long-range plans, including the Calvert County Comprehensive Plan updates, land preservation, parks, and recreation plan, and town center master plans, and in doing so will have forever left her imprint on Calvert County and its citizens."

Hart said, "The knowledge is off the charts. But the bigger word I just kept coming back to was 'respect.' Jenny, you respect everyone you work with in the public. This land here, she loves nature. This environment, she embraces it."

Current Director of Planning and Zoning Marty Beth Cook said, "It's a bittersweet day for planning and zoning. I know no other county employee more passionate, more full of pride, more having a love of the county. Jenny put her heart and soul into everything that she did for us, and I can't adequately thank her. There aren't enough words to say how much I've enjoyed working with you. How much we're going to miss you. We are going to call you."

Plummer-Welker's career with Calvert County government began on January 24th, 1994, as a Planner 1 with the Department of Planning and Zoning. Thereafter, she was promoted to Planner 2 in 2003, principal planner in 2007 and on July 28th, 2014, she was promoted to the new long-range planner position where she is serving until her retirement early next month.

A reception was held in her honor at the Harriet Brown Community Center later that afternoon.

Ten Proposed Bills to Be Presented to Legislators

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

Calvert County Attorney John Norris presented to the county commissioners on Aug. 27 a list of 10 proposed pieces of legislation to be presented to the county's legislative delegation for consideration for introduction in next year's legislative session. Four come from within county government and six were requested by citizens during the open period for submitting suggestions.

The commissioners will vote on the proposals at their Sept. 12 meeting ahead of the meeting with the delegation on Oct. 17 at the Harriet Elizabeth Brown Community Center.

Several of the requests represent repeat attempts at getting the idea through in Annapolis. One would seek "legislation authorizing the county to regulate the solicitation of money within public rights-of-way by adding Calvert to the existing law within the Transportation Article applicable in Allegany and Cecil counties," Norris said.

In those counties, Norris said, "except for representatives of a qualified organization, a person may not stand in a roadway, median divider, or intersection to solicit money or donations of any kind from the occupant of a vehicle. Qualified organizations mean any fire company or bonafide religious, fraternal, civic or war veterans or charitable organization."

Other counties also regulate such soliciting in various other ways, including requiring a permit. He said the fact that there are other counties doing essentially the same thing might make it easier to get the law through for Calvert.

"They're actually all in the same section of the transportation article. So, it's not something that the General Assembly is unfamiliar with. It's not something that they don't know how to deal with," he said.

There also is a proposal to next year once again try to get a local bidding preference put into law. Norris said, "Our purchasing and procurement authorities do not include the ability for the county to favor county-based vendors over out of county vendors in awarding procurement contracts.

"Today, you do have the reciprocal preference. That is if a business is coming from a county where they offer a local preference, you can apply that as a penalty to that company's bid so that it evens the playing field for the Calvert County business here at home.

"But this was a request that was made last year. It was supported by the minority chamber, the local NAACP, the Minority Business Alliance, the Circle of Angels Initiative, the Calvert County Chamber of Commerce, and others. It did not get out of committee last year. Staff is working and the director of the economic development is working to make sure we have a different result this coming year."

Norris reported earlier this year that the committee chairperson didn't like local preference bills.

Norris said the bills requested by the public included:

Outlaw all companies like Mosquito Joe and Mosquito Sherriff that are spraying back yards with pymethrins that kill pollinators.....no pollinators, no farms, no food.

Require state and local government agencies to use alternative chemicals for de-icing salt to be developed/identified by the Environmental Department.

Boats and real estate transfer on death without the need to go through probate.

Better speed control on Route 4, including the use of speed cameras.

A physician or physician group practice be prohibited from owning/operating a physical therapy clinic. This would help support the federal Physician Self-Referral, or Stark, Law, which prohibits a physician from referring their patients to a physical therapy clinic that is within their building.

County Attorney John Norris

Norris also reported, "A citizen has requested legislation intended to address a perception of conflicts of interest." He said that person is working directly with Del. Mark Fisher (R: 27C) on the legislation.

Plan Proposes Bikeways in Town Centers

Considers Only Prince Frederick, Dunkirk

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) has been presented with the final report of a feasibility study of bikeways in the Prince Frederick and Dunkirk town centers. The commissioners at their Aug. 29 meeting accepted the report presented by Planner III Jessica Gaetano, but they made no funding decisions.

Gaetano explained, "The Maryland Department of Transportation's (MDOT) Kim Lamphier Bikeways Network Program is a State-funded grant program open to local governments, Metropolitan Planning Organizations, non-profit organizations, and federal, state, and transit agencies. In 2020, the Hogan Administration announced $3.78 million in fiscal year 2021 grants to support bicycle safety and access improvements for projects across the state. In 2021, the BOCC was awarded grant funding from the Bikeways Network Program in the amount of $88,000 with a matching fund contribution of $22,000. The Calvert County Comprehensive Plan, Adopted August 2019, Amended 2022 advocates for the creation of "safe and attractive paths that allow people to travel within the town centers, connecting residential, commercial, recreational, institutional, and employment areas."

Gaetano explained, "The purpose of the grant is to enable the county to plan for a network of bicycle facilities accessible to riders of all ages and abilities with a specific focus on the Prince Frederick and Dunkirk town centers. County staff worked with the consultant firm, Mead & Hunt, on the feasibility study."

In response to a question, Gaetano said the study was limited to the two town centers because of the amount of the grant and because the county is now working on updating those two town center master plans.

The plan makes the following recommendations for the Dunkirk Town Center:

Reduce Town Center Boulevard and Dunkirk Way to one lane in each direction and add protected bicycle lanes.

Construct pathway between Apple Green community and Dunkirk Way. • Construct shared-use path between Dunkirk District Park and Ward Farm Recreation and Nature Park along Ward Road.

Extend established pathway to allow access from Dunkirk District Park to shopping center along Ferry Landing Road, add pedestrian gate.

Gaetano was asked by Commissioner Mark Cox if reducing the number of vehicle travel lanes was a good idea.

She said, "Reducing is always cheaper, more so than expanding. And this is internal to the development of Calvert Gateway. So, while there may be trouble getting in and out of there, I don't think there's problems getting around once you're on site through Town Center Boulevard."

Short-term recommendations for Prince Frederick are:

- Install protected bicycle lane along Prince Frederick Boulevard during planned resurfacing.
- Construct shared use path between MD 2-4 and Calvert Elementary School along Dares Beach Road.
- Upgrade signs and markings and install decorative bicycle racks to create a bicycle awareness zone in the Main Street Old Town area.

Commissioner President Buddy Hance wondered about potential conflicts between cars using the shoulder and bicyclists using the bikeway. Public Works Director J. R. Cosgrove said they would study that but there may be enough right-of-way on Prince Frederick Boulevard to accommodate both.

Costlier, long-range projects for Prince Frederick Town Center are:

When existing segments of Fox Run Boulevard are connected, a shared-use path should be installed in the new segment and retrofit of the existing segments should be considered.

If Chesapeake Boulevard is extended to the north/west, a shared-use path should be installed, and a retrofit of the existing segments should be considered.

If MDOT widens MD 231 west of Thoroughbred Drive, the widening should include a shared-use path to the College of Southern Maryland.

If Chesapeake Boulevard is extended, a shared-use path should be installed along the north side of Stoakley Road to Prince Frederick Boulevard.

Development of Armory Square and realignment of Armory Road should include a shared-use path along Armory Road.

The plan calls for a variety of bike path options:

Shared-Use Path: Bicycle and pedestrian specific transportation corridors adjacent to roadways. Pathways are ideally 10 to 12 feet wide to accommodate bidirectional walking and bicycling; the paths typically require a five-foot landscape buffer from adjacent roadways Protected Bike Lane: Bike lanes in the roadways are considered "protected" when they have a physical separation between motor vehicles and bicycles. Protected bike lanes are usually at least five-feet wide with a two-foot-wide buffer.

Bike Lane: Designated roadway lanes for bicyclists without physical separation

Existing and proposed future condition of park to park shared-use path along Ward Road or protection between motor vehicles.

Paved Shoulder: Paved space beyond the edge line of a roadway's travel lane that provide space for bicycling outside the usual path of motor vehicles. This area also provides a clear space for motorists and accommodate drainage and emergency stopping.

Shared Lane Marking ("Sharrow") Lanes shared by vehicles and bicycles. Sharrow are indicated by bike icons and chevrons. They mark roadway lanes that advise motorists that bicyclists may be present and indicate to bicyclists where to position themselves within a travel lane.
