Change Proposed in CSM Funding Method County Monies Would Go to All Campuses

By Dick Myers
Editor

The College of Southern Maryland (CSM) is seeking a change in the way the monies provided by the counties can be allocated. According to Calvert County Attorney John Norris, "Presently, CSM may only expend the county funds budgeted for it in the county providing those funds, with a few exceptions, such as indirect costs."

Norris explained during a Oct. 29 Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) work session with CSM officials: "Budget unification would allow CSM to use its funding more strategically in the fulfillment of its mission. Parity of contribution to expenditure at any one campus is assured through CSM Trustee oversight."

Another proposal would establish a baseline of funding from each of the three counties served by CSM and would allow for reductions only for "a catastrophic event." There is no change proposed in the current level of funding by the counties.

The proposals would require approval by the Maryland General Assembly after introduction of a bill by the Southern Maryland Delegation.

At the work session, CSM President Dr. Maureen Murphy explained, "Forty percent of our students attend classes at two or more campuses. Another 40 percent of our students attend one or more classes online. Generally, most of our students will have reasons for attending where they are that vary. The reality is that there are very few students who behave as we were originally regionalized. The assumption was people who lived in a particular county would attend the campus in that county and that's not how it's playing out. So, we're not able to move the resources very easily to where the students need them and that even plays out into student activities fees."

The arrangement also makes it difficult, she said, to assign faculty to teach at more than one campus.

Murphy added: "The number of budget transfers that we have to do to make all this stuff work to meet the needs is pretty crazy. So, we're looking for that flexibility so that we can be where our students are when they need them, and we can respond to change."

The three counties and college officials are working on a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) that would carry out the wishes that would be enabled under the proposed legislation. But Murphy expressed reservations about the three counties agreeing to all of the details before the 2020 session begins. The plan is to thus work the legislation and MOU in parallel but let the details come later since the change wouldn't take place until 2022.

Norris presented a proposed

MOU that Murphy had some concerns about. She particularly wanted the new arrangement to apply to the operating budget and not the institution's capital budget. The BOCC agreed.

Another concern was that future funding levels would be tied to the Consumer Price Index. She said state funding is tied to enrollment and "enrollment goes up and down very quickly."

Board of Trustees Vice Chair Jay Webster said enrollment often moves inversely with the economy. In a bad economy those out of work flock to community colleges to develop new employment skills. With full employment everyone is too busy to attend school.

Murphy said they use adjunct professors to adjust to the changing conditions. Their numbers are reduced when enrollment falls.

Murphy also opposed a proposed MOU provision which would prevent the college from artificially lowering tuition rates to offset increases in county contributions. She said rates are set with a variety of sources, including state contributions, and she could not envision a situation where CSM would artificially lower tuition rates.

Murphy asserted, "Our tuition revenue makes up about 49 percent of our operating budget, so the counties would have to be far more generous than they already are."

Murphy asked Commissioner President Tim Hutchins what the county's timetable was for finalizing the MOU. Hutchins, who is a former legislator, said if it was ready by the start of the session in January that would be sufficient. He said the three commissioner presidents are continuing to meet on the issue.

Once all three counties agree on the legislation wording, it will have to be submitted to the Southern Maryland Legislative Delegation for consideration.

The change would be the first major adjustment in the CSM's way of doing business since its creation from the former Charles County Community College almost 20 years ago.

Planning and Zoning Fee Hikes Proposed Significant Increases on the Table

By Dick Myers
Editor

In an effort to bring fees charged for work done by the Calvert County Department of Planning and Zoning in line with costs, their staff have proposed some significant fee increases and some new fees. The proposed changes were presented on Nov. 5 to the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) and will be brought back in January for a vote and a proposed implementation schedule.

There was no opposition to the proposal. "The right thing to do is people paying for their own stuff," said Commissioner Mike Hart.

Deputy Director of Planning and Zoning Brittany Waddell said, "Existing fees do not cover the costs involved in providing development review and inspection services for residential and commercial development. Current fees have not been updated in nearly 20 years (commercial site plan review in 1987; subdivision review fees in 1999)."

Planning and Zoning Director Mark Willis said the proposal has evolved over eight years and the final numbers were compared with St. Mary's and Charles counties and larger jurisdictions. For instance, the proposed new fee for building permits is still lower than the existing fee for the other two Southern Maryland counties, even with a 50 percent increase.

Willis said, "I think we have put together a fair package."

The proposal includes the following:

- Building permits – from $238.40 for a 2,000-square-foot dwelling with 760 square feet of unfinished space to $ 397.80.
- Electrical Permit Fee -- $50 to $236 for a single-family dwelling with 178 outlets, low-voltage wiring, kitchen appliances and HVAC equipment.
- Plumbing Permit Fee -- $145 to $205.
- After-the-fact Permit Fee – for enforcement cases, a new fee of $200.
- Concept Site-Plan Review – new fee of $400 for greater than 5,000 square feet and $100 for less than that.

- Detailed Sire Development Application – from current $400 to an additional $1,200 for greater than 5,000 square feet and $500 for less than that.
- Preliminary Major Subdivision Application -- From $60 a lot to $500 plus $100 per lot.
- Preliminary Minor Subdivision Application -- From $60 a lot to $200 plus $100 per lot.
- Final Major Subdivision Plat Application – from $60 a lot to $300 plus $150 per lot.
- Final Minor Subdivision Plat Application – from $60 a lot to $200 plus $100 per lot.
- Final Plat Recordation – from $35 per document to $75 plus $50 per sheet for large formats and $75 per document for small formats.
- For repeat applications there's a fee increase plus a new processing fee.
- Planning Commission agenda items -- new fees for extension request of approvals, appeals of an architectural review committee's decision and reconsideration of approved conditions.

Willis in conclusion said, "Adjusting application fees to offset staff time and expended county resources will provide a fiscal benefit to the county and, in turn, its citizens. Not addressing deficiencies in the fee schedule causes a direct cost to all citizens of Calvert County."

Property Tax Rate Cuts Outlined

By Dick Myers
Editor

Although budget deliberations for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 2020 have not yet begun, taxpayers got a first look at what may be on the horizon – a series of property tax rate cuts.

Director of Finance and Budget Tim Hayden presented at the Oct. 29 meeting of the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners a scenario in which the property tax rate was cut one half cent for every assessed $100 of valuation in each of the next three years. That would reduce revenue $600,000 in the coming fiscal year and by a cumulative total of $1.8 million in Fiscal Year 2023.

It is in fiscal 2024 that things start getting not so rosy. Hayden has earmarked monies from the Other Post-Employment Benefit (OPEB) account that funds retiree health care costs. That fund is being stoked by the PILOT (Payment in Lieu of Taxes) from the Dominion Cove Point LNG Plant.

Hayden says there's likely enough money in the OPEB account to cover the expected annual contribution and still have some left over to cover the lost revenue from the property tax rate cut.

In fiscal 2024 the method of calculating how much Dominion will be paying changes and it is anticipated that the total amount will begin to decline from its current $60 million.

Hayden thus says the tapping into

Director of Finance and Budget Tim Hayden

OPEB won't be an option and the county may have to find other savings if it hopes to continue making the property tax rate cuts. One target, he said, could be staff salary Cost of Living and STEP increases.

Hayden said the company that prepares the OPEB actuarial table for the county is expected to give its annual report in two weeks. He also said it appeared that the county could use some savings in the school system's OPEB to also cover some of the costs of the property tax rate drop.

All the discussions are very preliminary and could change before the county finalizes a budget to go to public hearing next spring.

Calvert County Sheriff Mike Evans said last week that the vehicle which struck and killed a pedestrian Oct. 29 on Dares Beach road belonged to Calvert Sheriff's Deputy Joseph F. Migliaccio, 33, of Prince Frederick.

Deputies responded at about 4:30 p.m. that day.

Migliaccio has been suspended with pay pending the outcome of an investigation.

The victim has been identified as Leah Christine Clark, 34, of Prince Frederick.

Evans said his agency is conducting the investigation into the fatal collision.

Preliminary investigation revealed that Migliaccio was driving his 2015 black Ford truck east on Dares Beach Road in the area of Terrace Drive when it struck Clark. She was pronounced deceased on the scene.

County Lottery Player Rides Lucky Streak Small Scratch-off Prizes Lead to Big Win

A Maryland Lottery player from Huntingtown enjoyed a run of luck last week that began with a $40 score and ended with a $50,000 prize on the $2,000,000 Richer scratch-off.

The winning streak started Oct. 22 when "Hulk Smash!" picked up one of the $30 $2,000,000 Richer instant tickets. He bought the game at a shop in Dunkirk where he buys Lottery tickets "at least two or three times a month."

The Calvert County resident scratched the instant ticket and won $40. Having recouped his initial outlay and gained $10, the player decided to let it ride and bought a second $2,000,000 Richer scratch-off. He ended up $70 to the good on that purchase.

"I stopped at a new spot and bought two more," he said. The Lottery retailer that got his business on

"Hulk Smash!" reinvested winnings from a series of small Maryland Lottery prizes to buy more scratch-offs until he found a $50,000 winner.

Oct. 24 was Ken-Mar Liquors at 1525 Solomon's Island Road in Prince Frederick. The store turned out to be a great choice for "Hulk Smash," who found his $50,000 prize.

"I was shaking and my heart was pumping!" he said. "Hulk Smash!" would have to wait a few days to claim his prize, however. The 50-year-old had a family commitment – a trip to Busch Gardens – scheduled on Oct. 25. On Oct. 28, "Hulk Smash!" made his way to Lottery headquarters in Baltimore to claim the prize.

Although he considered many possibilities for enjoying the windfall, "Hulk Smash!" decided on a practical use for the money. "I'm going to do my best to be debt free. It sure is going to help!"

Aside from jumping up and down, the winner has not really celebrated his big win. "Hulk Smash!" anticipates a winner dinner taking place in the near future.

"Paws" for Celebration: Shelter Celebrates One-Year Anniversary

The Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter one-year anniversary is around the corner and with all the happy "tails" that have come from the shelter the anniversary gives "paws" for celebration. Since opening Nov. 1, 2018, shelter staff and volunteers have helped more than 500 animals find loving homes, more than 200 animals have been reunited with owners and staff have relocated over 250 animals to rescues.

The primary goal of the Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter is to provide compassionate, humane care and treatment to the shelter population and responsibly find good homes for animals in the community. To meet this goal, the shelter has made every effort to make the adoption process smooth for citizens including waiving adoption fees for cats when the shelter was over "cat-pacity" and launching www.CalvertCountyAnimalShelter.com to provide adoption information and tips.

A Calvert County Board of County Commissioners' proclamation was issued on Nov. 5 for the shelter's anniversary. Visit the shelter Nov. 9 to view a memory wall with photos of animals adopted over the last year and check out www.Facebook.com/CalvertCountyAnimalShelter to submit photos of shelter animals settled into new, happy homes.

"We strive each and every day to ensure that animals in our county have as good a quality of life as our citizens," said Public Safety Director Jackie Vaughan. "Public Safety is proud to not only protect and serve citizens, but to do the same for our pets. I am especially proud of staff who have worked hard this past year to get the animal shelter up and running and appreciate all they do for our community."

"All of us here at the Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter are so proud of what has been achieved the past year," said Calvert County Deputy Director of Animal Services Crystal Dowd. "We look forward to the future and what else we can accomplish as we continue to provide the best care for the stray and unwanted animals in Calvert County."

The shelter is always in need of donated items including blankets, toys, dry and canned food, carriers and more. Visit online for a full list of shelter wish list items. For monetary donations, citizens can contact the nonprofit organization Friends of the Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter at 301-399-0107.

The Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter is an open admission animal shelter managed by the Animal Shelter Division of the Calvert County Department of Public Safety. The shelter is located at 5055 Hallowing Point Road in Prince Frederick. For more information about adopting from the Linda L. Kelley Animal Shelter visit www.CalvertCountyAnimalShelter.com.

COMMUNITY COMES TOGETHER FOR MARINE CORPS VETERAN

Patuxent Habitat for Humanity extends thanks to #OperationRAMPITUP for Veterans, EMAC (Exelon Militaries Actively Connected), Harvest Fellowship Presbyterian Church, Exelon Generation and Christmas in April Calvert County for their support in the building of a ramp for Mr. Trejo in Lexington Park.

The groups gave their time and talent to provide a safe ingress and egress path for the deserving veteran on a beautiful fall day.

The groups contributed in making World Habitat Day a “resounding success. We had an outstanding team of volunteers that came together to safely and efficiently construct a wheelchair accessible ramp for a United States Marine Corp Veteran.” said Patuxent Habitat in a press released.

Trejo was thrilled with his new ramp and how it will increase his freedom. These were very kind words indeed from a gentleman who served our country to protect and ensure our freedom. As Trejo walked on his new ramp, he said “it felt as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar.”

The partners at #OperationRAMPITUP provided materials and support to construct this ramp. Patuxent Habitat looks forward to future projects with #OperationRAMPITUP, the Harry and Jeanette Weinberg Foundation and Christmas in April Calvert County in improving the needs of veterans, their freedom and mobility.

The press release said, “Patuxent Habitat for Humanity believes: Everyone, especially our veterans deserve a decent place to live, with the dignity they have earned by serving us!”

QUILTS OF VALOR HONORS VETERANS

BY DAVE SPIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Each November 11th, our country pauses to recognize our greatest assets, the men and women who honorably served as a member of our military service or continue to defend the Nation as an active duty member or Reservist for one of our five armed forces.

One growing popular means of recognizing individuals for their service to the country is the volunteer efforts of the national "Quilts of Valor" Foundation to publicly thank members from all the services for their contributions by inviting them to local ceremonies where they are wrapped in beautiful hand stitched quilts following a brief story about their lives and their service records.

This large national organization began as a dream of its founder, Catherine Roberts in 2003, and has grown to more than 7000 volunteers! Its popularity spread rapidly throughout the continental United States and even beyond thanks mostly to "word of mouth combined with the magic of the internet. It has gained great popularity as a visual "thank you" and means to honor the service of these Americans who answered the call to duty to defend our country during its time of need. Roberts, the mother of a young soldier ordered to Afghanistan, had a vivid dream of seeing a young man sadly sitting on his cot one night, hunched over in despair while dealing with "demons" that had circled around him. Suddenly, she saw him wrapped in a quilt and his entire disposition became "one of hope and wellbeing!"

To her, the quilt was the cause for this dramatic change. It provided comfort and warmth, protecting an individual both physically and mentally. She realized that a quilt could be more than a piece of cloth. It had to be carefully hand sewn by volunteers who donated their time and materials. When finished, it had to be of a quality that reflects the love of the quilters. It would not be an inexpensive charity quilt to be handed out like magazines or cigarettes, or candy. She definitely felt these quilts would be special and should meet high standards of excellence as they would be looked upon as awards rather than gifts. She called these special quilts "Quilts of Valor" or QOV and they would carry the message of "Thank you for your service, sacrifice, and valor for serving our nation in combat." In the sixteen years of its existence, the Quilts of Valor Foundation has awarded more than 220,000 quilts to our special men and women.

A small arm of this organization was formed here in Southern Maryland four years ago by Peg Gowen. It too is an all-volunteer, non-profit group located in St. Mary's County. It is named the “Pax Sound of Freedom.” Last year, they awarded 28 QOVs to veterans in the local area and at the Charlotte Hall Veterans Home.

To help offset the costs of making these quilts, they hold a few fundraisers every year; you may have seen them at the county fair and the oyster festival. Not only are they in need of donations, they also are in desperate need of additional volunteers to help meet a goal of 32 quilts to be presented this year.

Two of their most active participants are Gerry and Sylvia Lague, a retired Navy couple who moved to the area three years ago. Gerry is a retired Navy Chief Petty Officer. The two of them have been making QOVs for nine years and have awarded these beautiful symbols of a grateful Nation to deserving veterans for the past eight years. They are excellent models of dedicated citizens who see and feel the need to ensure our heroes receive more than a handshake and a “Thank you for your service!”

This group held a ceremony on Saturday October 26 at the Lexington Park United Methodist Church to recognize local distinguished veterans with these beautiful quilts. These recipients are:

- Leonard Dean, a four year United States Army vet who spent most of his enlistment stateside in the Transportation pool as a mechanic servicing large military vehicles
- Stephen Peacock, a United States Marine who served for ten years that included four tours in Iraq and Afghanistan and who states he is just happy to be home
- Jerry Branham, a United States Marine who served in Viet Nam and remained lost for two weeks before being found unharmed by friendly forces but later suffered the effects of Agent Orange

- Russell Vetter, a United States Marine who spent time in many places including Viet Nam during his 20 year career

These dedicated veterans come from all walks of life and many different backgrounds, yet the one thing they have in common is their patriotism and willingness to volunteer to sign up and support the Constitution of the United States against all enemies foreign and domestic. Many gave some; some gave a lot! They all took the Oath to defend our country and they are outstanding models for all to emulate! Congratulations to each of you for receiving your award from the “Quilts of Valor Foundation” for your service! You make us proud!

NAVY VETERAN: RETIR

BY DAVE SPIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Every year our nation devotes a day to acknowledge our greatest resource, our dedicated veterans of our Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and Air Force, whether active duty, reservist, or retired, male or female, still alive or who have gone to their rest. We honor these individuals who have stepped up and met the challenge of serving our country despite the sacrifices and dangers such service may entail. They are special because not every American is willing to give up their comfortable way of life and choose to put their future on the line as our veterans have. Not everyone is ready to leave their loved ones and go to strange lands in defense of our country. It takes a truly dedicated man or woman who has a great love of country to make this commitment, for it is surely not a decision made for any financial gain! These unsung heroes are priceless treasures who are a part of every community throughout our Nation!

We have many of these veterans living right here in Southern Maryland. They quietly go about their daily lives, taking care of their families and friends and earning a living without seeking fanfare or acknowledgement. Most are model citizens who did their part, returned to civilian life satisfied that they made a difference and gave their best to keep our country strong and free. You might never know their past unless seeing them in uniform at a patriotic event or finding a photograph taken during their time of service. Every one of them maintains a silent pride that may only surface when they are recognized with a "Thank you for your service!" Although most do not seek any attention for their past efforts, they are greatly appreciative when acknowledged by others.

One of these great Americans who continue to serve his fellow man following a distinguished 20-year Navy career is Master Chief Petty Officer Terry W. Singer, USN Ret, a resident of Calvert County for the past 28 years. Like many other veterans, Singer did not stop serving our country upon hanging up his uniform in 1988, but completely immersed himself in programs and organizations that support our troops and their families throughout the tri-county area.

A native of nearby Pennsylvania, Singer joined the Navy in 1968 following two years of study at Elizabethtown College, Elizabethtown, Pa. This education permitted his advanced enlistment in the Navy as a Seaman E-3 and led to his assignment to training in the advanced electronics field.

Following completion of his initial schooling, he became a Polaris Missile Technician aboard the Navy's latest Polaris nuclear submarines and rapidly advanced through the enlisted ranks earning his coveted silver Submarine Dolphins and became a Chief Petty Officer in minimum time. When not at sea, or maybe "under the sea" to be correct, Singer enjoyed tours of duty in: Dam Neck, Virginia Beach, VA; Honolulu; Groton, CT; Holy Loch, Scotland; Newport News, VA; and in Washington, DC, as a member of the Chief of Naval Operation's staff.

RETIRED MASTER CHIEF SINGER

Singer's career had the earmarks of a thrilling, exciting military life, but his duty was anything but easy. His actual service included 14 arduous nuclear submarine patrols of two and a half months each, or in other words a total of more than three years of his life spent under water with no outside world contact. Not many people are capable of handling the hardship of being away from family all this time, unable of doing the things husbands and fathers routinely enjoy and are expected to provide. It takes a special individual to be willing to travel in the ocean deep in a vessel with 145 crewmembers confined to a very limited living space that offers little-to-no privacy.

His vast knowledge and leadership experience at sea where he could be called upon to do any of his crew's assignments if necessary, allowed for his achieving the title of "Chief of the Boat" and assuming full responsibility for the military bearing of his crew. Just prior to completing his naval career, he finished the necessary college requirements for his bachelor's degree in Management from Elizabethtown College, a major feat considering he was unable to complete any of his studies while on sea duty with the nuclear submarine force.

Upon retirement from active duty in March 1988, Singer decided to immerse himself in counseling programs to advise recently discharged or retiring military members of their promised benefits for having served in our armed forces. Among his many tasks, he instructed individuals in filling out VA Disability Claims, provided answers for various financial issues, and pointed them in the right direction to obtain employment based on their skills and experience in the military. He is especially adept at seeking the means of resolving issues when a veteran is unsure where to turn for help. His extensive experience as the senior enlisted man of many naval commands at sea and ashore prepared him for this continuing leadership role in civilian life. For many

To everyone who has served, including the 26 veterans who call Cedar Lane Senior Living Community home, we are forever grateful.

ED BUT STILL SERVING

local veterans, he is the reputed “go to” person and has provided support for hundreds of families in this role!

In addition to these volunteer efforts, Singer was fully employed by the Calvert Cliffs Nuclear Power Plant in Lusby for 10 years as a technical writer where he developed Departmental Operating Procedures and then was advanced to a management analyst position. During this period, he even found time for part-time employment as an adjunct instructor in English and Communications at the College of Southern Maryland’s evening program.

In 2005, following a change of ownership at the power plant, Singer was laid off along with many others as the firm’s new management initiated a large cost cutting effort to reduce expenses.

While seeking new employment, Singer received an opportunity to interview with the Maryland Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation for a paid position assisting veterans seeking reemployment, a job he was well prepared to assume. He later was invited by a member of the Board of Calvert County Commissioners to sit on the Tri-County Council Veterans Regional Advisory Committee for Charles, St. Mary’s and Calvert counties. He was instrumental in helping to bring about the recent groundbreaking for a new Community-Based Outpatient Clinic for veterans of Southern Maryland.

Sadly, in 2008, Terry lost his beloved Polly, his wife and partner for 42 years who had been his chief inspiration and motivator. With all their family living out of state, Singer realized he now had even more time on his hands and needed to stay busy. He continued to accept volunteer opportunities in support of other local activities and organizations. He delved into working with the Disabled American Veterans of Maryland [DAV] and became the Local Veterans Assistance Program chairman.

He took on a new project to revitalize a training program following much research and interviews. His newly developed program was presented at a DAV convention held in Ocean City, Md., and determined to be the best ever noted by the National Adjutant. It was soon adopted by their national headquarters to be incorporated throughout the entire organization.

You may have seen him at a Disabled American Veterans table that is regularly manned at one of the local restaurants to disperse information about the DAV as well as through donations, raise monies for the Veteran’s Children’s for Camp Corral and other DAV work.

To this day, this dedicated American veteran continues to lend his talents and time to help others. For 27 years he served as a lector at masses for Our Lady Star of the Sea Parish providing the scheduled readings during Sunday services.

Just after moving to Calvert, he joined the local Council of the Knights of Columbus, a Catholic men’s fraternal group whose purpose is to serve the needs of the community. He instantly made a positive impact on many of the accomplishments of their charitable work. Once more he rolled up his sleeves and took on various leadership roles within this 125-man organization, volunteering to take on projects to raise needed funds to support the parish school, orphanages, medical equipment, scholarships and much more.

It wasn’t too long before his many special talents and enthusiasm were recognized! He was elected by his peers to become the Grand Knight. Always out front promoting the group, he actively participates in Sunday breakfasts, parish dinners, car raffles, church celebrations and a host of other Knight-sponsored events! He is often the first Knight the public sees passing out Tootsie Rolls at the annual Patuxent River Appreciation Days [PRAD] in Solomons. He was instrumental in the development of the council’s scholarship program named for a past member who bequeathed a vast sum of money to the Knights to be used to support school children. The Charlie Serabian Scholarship annually provides $4000 to deserving students to help pay their college costs. Singer serves on the selection committee and enthusiastically promotes this program throughout the community.

A stickler for details, Singer ensures the council remains on track in meeting all self-generated obligations. He is consistently looked up to by his Brother Knights for guidance. He is unashamed in his position as a leader! With the help of a committee of 10 he planned and prepared the council’s 25th Anniversary celebration. Just recently, seeing the need for quick action, Singer volunteered to assume the suddenly vacant position of Council Financial Secretary, handling accounting, reporting, membership records, correspondence, and communications.

Singer’s two terms as Grand Knight resulted in the council receiving top annual International awards for achievement, service and recruitment.

Finally, this retired Master Chief is a long-time active member of the American Legion Arick L. Lore Post 274 in Lusby, where he once more continues to support fellow active duty, retired and former military personnel as the Post Service Officer. He is responsible for assisting legionnaires with issues involving any and all problems with the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Singer always seems to be the right guy in the right position to serve his fellow veterans and, in turn, serve this country. He is unquestionably a role model for anyone who has served in uniform for what they can become once their military service has been completed.

If asked, he would like to be remembered as a “Veteran” who went out to do his job to the best of his ability, a shining example of, “For God, Country and the American Veteran.”

FROM SERVICE TO CITIZENSHIP

BY GUY LEONARD
STAFF WRITER

Jose Martinez looks back on a 20-year career in the U.S. Navy and remembers all the opportunities it afforded him; the greatest of those was getting his American citizenship.

That was in 2007, just seven years before his retirement in 2014.

"It was the greatest feeling in my life," Martinez, 49, said. "I felt like I had a voice.

"I earned my citizenship."

Martinez was born in Durango, Mexico to a large family with little money; when he was 4 years old he moved with his family to Texas.

"They came for a better life, a better future," Martinez said. "In that stage of life, they were pretty poor."

His home life was difficult; his father drank often and beat his mother, he said.

He remembered trying to stop his father from hitting his mother when he was 5; he got knocked out for his trouble, he said.

Despite his poor relationship with his father, he gained his mechanical aptitude from him. It would serve him well in years to come.

"He would always say 'Buy American' when he went to buy tools," Martinez said. "To us, it was the greatest country in the world.

"It still is."

When he was 9 years old his father sent him, his mother and siblings back to Mexico to see a family member who was ostensibly in poor health, it was a pretext to get rid of them for a time, Martinez said.

He struggled to help keep the family fed with construction and other odd jobs, he said.

"I remember a very hard life in Mexico," said Martinez. "We survived."

He and his siblings and mother made their way back to El Paso, Texas as poor immigrants, he said, and he saw how children who lived in military housing and nearby Fort Bliss lived.

It made a significant impression on him.

“Everybody was happy,” he said of children playing in military neighborhoods.

He went on to graduate from high school and took night school courses to learn about electronics; life was still a struggle in El Paso with drugs and crime a constant problem.

“El Paso was probably the worst city I ever lived in,” Martinez said.

While working in the electronics company, Martinez listened to the CEO and vice president speak praises about the military. So, he decided to join up.

A lifetime of hard work had kept him fit and he was ready, he said.

“I wanted to be like them,” he said of his bosses, who treated him well. “I wanted to learn how to do something.”

He started at the bottom working on “all the crappy jobs nobody wanted” as an undesignated airman, but he worked his way up to working on the airframe structure, hydraulics and pneumatics.

He learned quickly.

“I became known as a trouble shooter,” Martinez said.

Throughout his career he deployed on multiple aircraft carriers and shore duty all over the world.

His first cruise was on CVN-65, USS Enterprise, the first nuclear powered aircraft carrier in the American arsenal.

He came on board in 1986.

“That ship was pretty raggedy then,” he said of Big E. “A lot of people swore it was haunted.”

While on board he and ship mates working on deck were constantly looking out for things out of place or accidents waiting to happen, anything that would slow down the fast pace of the 24-hour launch and retrieve cycle of aircraft from its deck.

“You’re constantly looking for trouble,” Martinez said.

His next assignment took him to the USS Eisenhower and then the USS Kitty Hawk where he served for three years.

The USS Kitty Hawk was one of the oldest carriers, running on steam turbines powered by oil; she was finally decommissioned in 2009.

He served on board from 2003 to 2007, he said.

He later transferred from fixed wing aircraft to helicopters and served on board Patuxent River Naval Air Station until his retirement in 2014.

He was given his choice of retirement duty and he chose St. Mary’s because of its reputation as being particularly kind to Navy retirees.

After all his success, coming from such difficult beginnings, Martinez has never forgotten what this country, and its military, did for him.

He has never forgotten how fortunate he is.

“How can you not be happy and that God takes care of his people?” Martinez said. “In America no one keeps you down; the only one who keeps you down is you and your bad decisions.”

SERVING THOSE WHO SERVED

Patriot Connect is a program designed to help veterans and active military personnel transition back into the community with ease. For returning vets, dealing with a termination notice from SMECO could be the last straw. So SMECO is reaching out to the men and women who have served our country.

Our goal is to help someone who is suffering from a stress disorder get one step closer to a normal life. By making it easier for people with PTSD, combat stress, or related trauma to accomplish everyday tasks, we hope to help customer-members—people who have risked their lives in service to our country—with reintegrating into the community.

Marching groups and other parade participants should park at Leonardtown Middle School and take the shuttle to St. Mary's Ryken High School between 7:45 a.m. and 9:20 a.m.

For safety reasons, parents are not to drop their children at St. Mary's Ryken High School along the roadside or at the intersection. All persons participating in the parade (and who are not riding in a parade vehicle) should ride the shuttle bus from Leonardtown Middle School.

PARKING FOR SPECTATORS

The parking lot adjacent to the Courthouse on Courthouse Drive is reserved for school buses and shuttles only. Parking for spectators and parade participants will not be available at the Courthouse. Spectators are asked to park at the St. Mary's County Fairgrounds, the St. Mary's County Governmental Center or the College of Southern Maryland and ride one of the complimentary, round-trip shuttles into Town. Free parking and shuttles will also be available at all three of these locations. At the Governmental Center, spectators are asked to park in the lots adjacent to the Carter State Office Building (23115 Leonard Hall Drive in Leonardtown). Wheelchair-accessible shuttles will be available at both locations. The return-shuttle stop for both sites is located across from The Olde Town Pub on the corner of Washington and Shadrick Streets.

Spectators and participants using the shuttles may encounter delays due to crowding. Your patience and understanding are appreciated.

Washington Street and Fenwick Street leading into downtown Leonardtown will be closed to traffic from 8 a.m. until noon. Downtown parking and through-traffic will be limited to areas accessible from Lawrence Avenue. Deputies from the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office will provide traffic control and parade volunteers will assist with parking and street detours.

HANDICAPPED PARKING

Spectators requiring handicapped parking may take Washington Street and (upon showing proof of a handicapped sticker or need) will be allowed to park in the public lot beside the Hair Company.

Curry Named Maryland Superintendent of the Year

The Public School Superintendents' Association of Maryland (PSSAM) named Calvert County Public Schools' Superintendent, Dr. Daniel Curry, the 2020 Maryland Superintendent of the Year on Thursday, October 31, 2019, at the annual Maryland Negotiating Service Awards Banquet held in Ocean City. A committee of his peers selected Dr. Curry, and he will now go on to represent Maryland in the 2020 National Superintendent of the Year program.

"I am honored to be chosen to represent the hard-working superintendents of Maryland's public schools, whose only mission is to find ways for all of our students to become everything they can be," said Curry. "Calvert County is the hidden gem of southern Maryland, with hard-working teachers, principals and support staff who manage to get outstanding effort, and, therefore, outstanding accomplishments from their students. We are also fortunate to have a community where the Board of Education and the Board of County Commissioners communicate regularly to support each other to sustain Calvert County as a place where people move so their children can go to school there."

Dr. Karen Couch, President of PSSAM stated, "Maryland is a very diverse state, and, when Dr. Curry arrived in 2014, he jumped right in and got to work collaborating with all of the 24 local school systems. He volunteered to be PSSAM's Legislative Chair and made his way through our Executive Board to lead our organization as President in 2019. He is a consensus builder, and we know he will represent Maryland exceptionally at the national level."

Calvert County has been a high achieving district for many years, but achievement gaps still exist. Dr. Curry has introduced many innovative programs to help lessen these gaps, including the Learning Focused Framework. This is a framework that focuses on aligning curriculum and instruction through purposeful and intentional planning and practices to reach all learners. Dr. Curry also brought Calvert Basics, a franchise of Boston Basics, to the county. Calvert Basics recognizes that 80% of brain growth happens in the first three years of life, and this program takes the bold step to reach out to families before children enter school. The Calvert Basics Campaign works through a broad partnership of community institutions and aims to teach and promote evidence-based parenting and caretaking skills such as reading, counting, singing, managing stress, and exploring through play.

To advance learning through technology, Dr. Curry worked with staff to develop the Future Ready Plan. The plan provides a vision, goals, and objectives to move the system toward a true integration of technology into daily instruction.

Local Board of Education President Dawn Balinski said this of Dr. Curry's new initiatives: "During Dr. Curry's tenure as Superintendent, he has implemented an impressive number of new initiatives that will move our school system forward: 1-to-1 technology in the classroom, a new Strategic Plan that targets equity and school culture as well as student outcomes, additional positions for six social workers and a supervisor of school psychologists to address growing mental health needs, incorporation of social emotional learning into curriculum, systemwide changes to improve building safety, and the launch of Calvert Basics for children aged 0-3 who will enter our system in the near future. We are appreciative of his depth of experience and his willingness to give freely of himself to our school system and within the community."

Under Dr. Curry's leadership, promoting equity has been a major priority. In 2016, he hired a Supervisor of Equity and School Improvement, and they created a five-year Equity Plan, which is among the first of its kind in the state. This plan outlines the goals, objectives, strategies, measures of success, and associated costs of promoting and instituting equity across the system. Another challenge to equity is the use of biased language. To address this, Dr. Curry initiated the use of "Speak Up in School," a guide published by Teaching Tolerance that is designed to give educators and students the skills and confidence to speak up against biased or hateful language.

Teacher recruitment and staff retention plague many school systems. Upon his arrival in 2014, Dr. Curry recognized that experienced staff were up to four steps behind their peers due to other financial strains in the school district, and he worked with County Commissioners to address that the loss of salary. The county leadership was hesitant to commit to additional funding, but Dr. Curry was a dogged advocate. Eventually, the County Commissioners agreed to a four-year funding formula that would provide annual increases in funding, as well as a yearly multiplier.

William J. Phalen, Vice President of the Board, further praises Dr. Curry's work, "It is our pleasure to congratulate our Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Daniel Curry, as Maryland Superintendent of the Year. He certainly deserves it. There is no doubt the job of superintendent is the most demanding and difficult in any school system. Superintendents must be a master of many occupations, including budget, personnel, construction, communication, public relations, etc. Dr. Curry does a masterful job at all of these and more. I can't think of anyone you could select that would be a better choice."

Not only is Dr. Curry a leader in the education of Calvert County students, he has been an active member of the community. Thomas Hutchins, President of the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners, says, "The Board has collectively noted that he has been substantially engaged in various endeavors with large community organizations. One of the most varied is the Friends of Jefferson Patterson Park, which is a major cultural and land preservation effort of a former farm along the Patuxent River. . . . Dan's community en-agement has also reached out in support of the Calvert Hospice program; as a member of a barbershop quartet, he has contributed greatly to the mission of this noble cause."

Dr. Curry is originally from Fairmont, West Virginia, and served there as superintendent of three counties for 15 years. He then spent another 11 years as Superintendent of Schools for the Lake Forest School District in Felton, Delaware, from 2003-2014 and has been with Calvert County Public Schools since 2014.

Dr. Curry has been a member of many professional and community organizations. His PSSAM roles include service as President, Legislative Chair, Secretary and Past President. He was also Past President of the Delaware Chief School Officers and Legislative Chair and Past Present-elect of the West Virginia Association of School Administration. He was a member of the Governing Board and Executive Board of the American Association of School Administrators.

His community affiliations include serving on the Board of the Friends of Jefferson Patterson Park and Museum, the Calvert Community Foundation, and the Calvert Family Network. He is the lead singer in a barbershop quartet that sells singing Valentines in to benefit the local hospice organizations. He is a member of the Harriet Elizabeth Brown Commemoration Task Force and a former Charter Member of two new Rotary Clubs and Rotarian of the Year. He is also a former executive Board Member for the Delmarva Blood Bank and United Way of Parkersburg, West Virginia.

He and his wife, Jacque, currently reside in Lusby.

Carmen Engracia Perez Pacheco

Carmen Engracia Perez Pacheco, lovingly known to many as "Carmita", passed away peacefully on Monday October 28, 2019 at 4:00 pm at the Calvert - Burnett Hospice House in Prince Frederick, Maryland with her family by her side.

Carmita was born April 3, 1931, one of 16 children, in Puerto Piritu, Anzoátegui Venezuela. Growing up, she was truly a second mother to all of her younger siblings, to whom she gave tender care and much love.

As a teenager, she attended college in Trinidad, with an interest in Journalism. A classic beauty, at 17 she represented Venezuela as the Reina de la Prensa (Queen of the Journalists) and it was only the reticence of her father that kept her from representing the country in the Miss Venezuela Pageant.

Carmita was united in marriage to Enrique Pacheco and, in 1956 emigrated with her family from Venezuela to settle in the United States. She lived first in Washington D.C. and later moved to Maryland. Although it was difficult to leave her family and friends in Venezuela, she grew to love her adopted country. She was proud to become a naturalized U.S. citizen.

Carmita attended Trinity College in Washington D.C. where she took both business and theology classes. She also took lessons leading to a private pilot's license.

Six children resulted from her marriage to Enrique: Orlando, Henry, Floraisa, Dianah, Shirley Carolina and Isaira.

Carmita was an active parishioner at Saint Peter's Church in Waldorf, Maryland for many years. She was also an active member of the Church's Spanish Club and supported Mother Teresa's Little Sisters of the Poor.

A small business owner, she operated The Beauty Shop in District Heights, Maryland for 23 years until her retirement in 2009.

She loved her vegetable garden and roses and was known to have a green thumb. She also loved to travel. She participated in pilgrimages to Fatima, Betania, Guadalupe, Assisi, and Medjugorje. On one occasion, when she was in her 50's, she journeyed to the Amazon with her daughter and her nephew and exhibited greater stamina on the inclines than the younger hikers. One of the highlights in her life was when she traveled to Rome to meet His Holiness, Pope John Paul II.

Those who knew her understood her to be a determined, strong, and a kind person.

She was preceded in death by her Parents: Rufino and Candelaria Perez, brothers; Angel, Rufino Jr., Teunnis and sisters: Thais, Alicia, and Migdalia.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her siblings: Alfredo Perez (Ivetti), Belen Marciano, Rhaizza Urdaneta, Edgar Perez, Emil Perez (Luisa), Libe Vasile, Tibisay Bracho (Julio), and Frank Perez (Rodica); her six children: Orlando Pacheco (Rosa), Henry Rufino Pacheco, Floraisa Pacheco Mattivi (Lawrence), Dianah Vergara (Fermin), Shirley Carolina Stuard and Isaira Reynolds (Richard); 13 grandchildren and mentees: Bernadette, Orlando Antonio, Mario, Rose, Christina Maria, Kaylee, Cindy, Isabel, Joseph, Caroline Rose, Jacob, Victor Allen, and Holly; and many extended family and friends

Carmita's viewing will be on Thursday November 7, 2019 from 2-4 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. at the Rausch Funeral Home, 4405 Broomes Island Road, Port Republic.

A funeral mass will be held on Friday, November 8, 2019 at 11 a.m. at the Saint John Vianney Church at 105 Vianney Lane, Prince Frederick, Maryland.

Carmita will be laid to rest on Saturday, November 9, at 11:00 am at Saint John Evangelist Cemetery in Frederick, Maryland.

In lieu of flowers, please send donations to the Calvert Hospice, 238 Merimac Ct, Prince Frederick, MD 20678.

Please accept our sincere thanks for the many kind acts tendered to our family as a result of the loss of our mother, grandmother, aunt, and sister.

The Calvert County Times is a weekly newspaper providing news and information for the residents of Calvert County. The Calvert County Times will be available on newsstands every Thursday. The paper is published by Southern Maryland Publishing Company, which is responsible for the form, content, and policies of the newspaper. The Calvert County Times does not espouse any political belief or endorse any product or service in its news coverage.

To be considered for publication, articles and letters to the editor submitted must include the writer's full name, address and daytime phone number. Submissions must be delivered by 4 p.m. on the Monday prior to our Thursday publication to ensure placement for that week. After that deadline, the Calvert County Times will make every attempt possible to publish late content, but cannot guarantee so. Letters may be condensed/edited for clarity, although care is taken to preserve the core of the writer's argument. Copyright in material submitted to the newspaper and accepted for publication remains with the author, but the Calvert County Times and its licensees may freely reproduce it in print, electronic or other forms. We are unable to acknowledge receipt of letters. The Calvert County Times cannot guarantee that every letter or photo(s) submitted will be published, due to time or space constraints.
