CHS Students: 'I Do Not Feel Safe'

Calvert High Staff Air Concerns to School Board

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

"When it gets thrown right in your face, it's just impossible to ignore." That was Calvert County Board of Education member Dawn Balinski's reaction to the presentation by Calvert High School (CHS) staff to discipline problems there.

Four staff members spoke to the school board at their April 11 meeting on behalf of all 47 in the building. But it was perhaps the one CHS student who spoke, Paige Aguilar, who left the deepest impact on the board.

Aguilar, 15, a sophomore, said, "I have asked my peers, and the most common answer I've gotten on the school's environment is, 'I'm uncomfortable. Why has this not been handled or stopped? And I do not feel safe.' I don't think that should be the first thing out of a child's mouth. Since we were little kids, we've been taught that school is a safe place and CHS's environment is the complete opposite."

She went on to say, "I feel every time I walk into the building, something bad is going to happen and every day I must keep a guard on myself like I'm in prison, which no kid should have to face. School used to be my escape from my other life problems, but now it's just a burden I'm waiting to end."

Aguilar suggested more police officers in the schools. "They're more equipped and have better knowledge to stop a fight safely and would alleviate a teacher's fear of their very own safety and also the student's safety to stop a fight and to jeopardize their own health."

She added, "The destroying the bathroom problem is out of hand. I should not have to walk into a restroom with baby oil on the floor, broken mirrors, into all the broken toilet seats. Why haven't these kids been punished? Why are they coming back to school and why are they allowed to still play sports? You can suspend them for 10 days all you want, but they're going to come back and cause the same trouble."

Later in the meeting, Student Member of the Board Jordan Hayes agreed. "Students in Calvert County are afraid to attend school, to use the bathrooms. The students of CCPS deserve the best education possible. That requires a safe environment, a comfortable environment, and a nurturing environment. So, while I can work very hard to gain the support, the help, the improvements that are needed for me to be a successful student and for my peers to be successful students, in the end, we need help from the adults."

During the public comment portion of the meeting, Erin Hammett said, "At CHS, we are experiencing an exponential growth of dangerous behaviors. We have reached a point where excuses will not be accepted. We need intervention and support from leadership in the school system. The increase in negative behaviors has caused our school's culture and climate to suffer as a result in student and staff injuries, decreased academic success and decreased student and staff morale."

She observed, "Students are unfazed by referrals because consequences are minimal and there are no lessons learned from the student," adding, "This year's not over yet, but we've had over 1,000 referrals being written for class cutting. That is over a thousand missed educational learning opportunities. In addition to missing instructions, students are breaking other code of conduct rules while skipping class. The increases seen in class cutting directly correlate to other behavioral concerns in our school environment."

Jackie Getjen shared testimonials of some of the staff and students about drug use in the bathrooms. She said, "Our schools are supposed to be no smoking, no vaping, no drugs or alcohol, no weapons sanctuaries, where staff members are not allowed to have these items or do these things, but we allow our underage students to do them while in our buildings; students can wreak of raw marijuana and staff are told there's nothing we can do about it."

She added, "I've been verbally assaulted over 20 times this year by students that are skipping. Staff avoid confronting students as to where they're supposed to be when found without a pass due to the constant disrespect. I am one of them and I never thought I would be one of those teachers who walks away from a student."

She said, "A younger teacher has stated, 'I have students coming in my room talking about hitting blinkers before class. I have students in class so high they can't keep their heads up.' For those of you who don't know, which I didn't, a blinker is slang for hitting a marijuana pen until the light blinks making for a disoriented and high student. They're so comfortable doing drugs in school, they're talking about it right in front of us and assuming we don't know what they're saying and not caring. This is not a learning environment."

Donna Wallmark shared another staff member's experience: "While clearing out our bathroom, which is part of my duties, a student brushed up against me and then started to curse me out. The situation escalated to me being assaulted by the student. I will no longer go near the student bathrooms for fear of being assaulted and not being backed by the school or the county. I do not do hall duty for the same reason. It is sad that I do not feel safe in my school. This student is back in the schools walking the hallways while I feel unsafe."

Kathryn Wolber offered some solutions. She said, "We understand the issues with the budget, but it is time to look at need rather than enrollment numbers in determining if a building warrants a fourth assistant principal. We know our administration is trying and is overwhelmed. Having a fourth assistant principal would allow for better management of smaller issues that are damaging to school culture and morale and that contribute to larger issues."

Later in the meeting, school board member Lida Grenis reacted. She said, "Our teachers, parents and students who want to learn have had enough. We have a code of conduct for a reason. Where it is being enforced, the problems are less severe. Where it is not, you have chaos, fights, drug use, vaping, cyber bullying, hate speech, inappropriate use of cell phones and property destruction almost on a daily basis. In fact, since school year 2023 up until now, there have been 615 fights reported to Calvert County Public School Student Services. This is approximately eight fights per week. This is unacceptable."

Grenis added, "When there's a fight, the cell phones come out and the incident is recorded and shared, sparking more fights. Speaking of cell phones, 'come to the bathroom and vape' is undoubtedly a text message, sort of like a meeting invite. So, let's enforce a no cell phone in the classroom policy."

Vice President Inez Claggett observed, "We are listening. It is a problem I feel that we have not gotten to the root cause of, as of yet. I believe we are trying to resolve some symptoms with things that we are doing. And as we dig further, I believe that staff will uncover the root cause and we will continue to work on that situation to attempt to resolve it."

"However, I would ask that we keep in mind that in coming to the root cause, we need to realize that these are students who will grow up and become adults in society. So, I think it is incumbent upon us while we have the opportunity to make an impression upon them, to ensure that we provide them the resources they need to heal themselves so that when they grow older, they do not feel that this is something they can continue as they become adults and go out into society. We never want our students to leave our school system and feel like they can continue to be a menace and not be productive citizens."

School Board Discusses Discipline Policies

Change in State Law Limits Responses

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

With concerns raised by Calvert High School staff about behavior problems still resonating (see separate story), the Calvert County Board of Education at their April 11 meeting talked about two policies pertinent to the issue -- Student Behavior Intervention and Alternative Education.

Mailing the presentation were Director of Student Services Cecilia Lewis, and Director of Special Education Dr. Kendy Anderson.

Lewis said the ability of the school system to deal with behavior issues is limited by state law. She said, "In 2009, a task group began through the state board to shift the discipline regulations in the state of Maryland. Those discipline regulations finally got shifted in 2014. It was a five-year process. Through that process, we shifted from a zero-tolerance as a state stance. We don't have zero-tolerance with the exception of firearms on school property. So that progressive discipline model that's currently in place through state law and regulation requires that school systems look at a progressive model prior to suspension or expulsion."

She added, "So the continuum of responses that are outlined in our student code of conduct is what administrators use on a regular basis in order to determine, after the investigation, what is the appropriate response. We no longer say, well, that child picked up a chair and hit someone, therefore you go to alternative education. There may have been a practice like that in the past, I'm not sure. But that is not something that we would do because we would want to look at the individual case and support. Obviously, there's going to be a consequence, but support whatever that root cause or issue was, so that when that child does return as soon as possible to instruction that they are in a better place. So, they're even learned something, relearned something or unlearned something that they should not have done."

Lewis emphasized, "And so we make decisions based on state law and state law does not have an allowance of just shifting students to an alternative setting based on things outside of imminent threat or harm to others. There's another caveat, which is chronic disruption across school settings across the school day. So, there are parameters that we have to follow legislatively that do not allow us to just make a decision that seemingly would be a consequence for an action from someone else's lens."

Anderson said, "The reason we're here together, although Cecilia handles discipline, it takes all of us. So early in my tenure here, I felt like there was a misunderstanding about discipline and special education students. So, over the last summer we had our attorney to talk about COMAR (state law) and the language. Not to say, let's open the floodgates of suspension and extended suspensions, but what does this mean? What does the language mean? And so, we've made some real inroads and the conversations with building level administrators have changed around, even if you are identified, aspects of COMAR pertain directly to you, and how do we work through that as a team? And so, my personal opinion, it has gotten better at the building level with this understanding. They didn't sit in the meeting with the attorney, but Larry (Titus, director of security) and Dr. (Susan) Johnson (assistant superintendent for instruction) and I, we came to an understanding of what COMAR was saying, and we're better able to communicate that to administrators when they're facing these difficult cases."

During the discussion, board member Lisa Grenis said, "After a little research, I learned that placing a problem student into the alternative education is cumbersome and a lengthy process. Sometimes taking several months or even as much as a year of paperwork, review committees, and a case-by-case assessment or delaying the removal of students who act out violently and present a real threat to our teachers and other students."

Lewis responded, "I have not experienced any extended time from the time I received an application to placement."

Grenis added, "You have to go through processes to prove that you've done several things to try to find the triggers to resolve it, and in many situations, that's very appropriate. But for a child who is posing a danger, to me, that process needs to be expedited. We cannot make administrators jump through all these hoops while children are being injured and teachers are being injured. That's where I say there needs to be a special process in place. How can we expedite it when a child is posing danger to others?"

Lewis responded, "There is data that is gathered depending on the root of the recommendation. In the case that you have just mentioned, where by law, if there is an imminent or serious harm to another individual, then the school principal would likely suspend that student, and make a recommendation for an extended suspension. In that case, they would come to a board hearing. So that is a disciplinary model of placement. And we are within limits of school educational law that within 10 days we have to hold a board hearing and then a determination is made."

Staff recommended only minor changes to the two policies. They have both been posted for 30-day public review.

Units from Solomons Volunteer Rescue Squad and Fire Department (Company 3) and St. Leonard Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad (Company 7) were dispatched on April 12 at 8:47 a.m. to a motor vehicle accident involving a school bus. Captain 3A arrived on scene to find a head-on style collision between an occupied school bus and a small passenger car. A total of three patients were assessed, with one patient being transported for evaluation at the hospital.

Emergency personnel assisted with stabilizing the bus for patient removal due to the bus being off the roadway. The scene was turned over to Calvert County Sheriff's Office and units returned to service.

The Solomons Volunteer Rescue Squad and Fire Department would like to remind drivers that the roads are the slickest at the beginning of a rainstorm and please drive safely in all weather conditions.

League of Women Voters Cancels Candidates Forum

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The League of Women Voters of Calvert County has cancelled a planned forum for school board candidates. League Co-Presidents Sandra Raviv and Gladys White said in a release, "The League of Women Voters of Calvert County has regretfully decided to cancel our scheduled April 18th Board of Education (BOE) Candidate Forum at the Harriet Elizabeth Brown Community Center in Prince Frederick.

"Despite early responses that all seven BOE candidates would attend our event, three candidates withdrew from the Forum with less than a week to go. LWV non-partisan rules require a minimum of two opposing candidates from each district to participate, so two of the three districts had to be eliminated.

A second, less formal option for a "Meet and Greet" was entertained, but it was ultimately discarded, since the League could not guarantee the thoughtful and civil interaction that is a hallmark of League programs.

"Looking ahead to the Fall, LWVCC has decided to leave it to the BOE Candidates themselves regarding whether a second Forum will be offered. This means that candidates will need to notify us that they want a non-partisan venue to speak to the public, and that they are truly committed to attending.

"The League regrets that this opportunity for citizens has been cancelled, for it is the citizens who are losing out the most.

Voters who are affiliated and active with a political party may receive only their party's perspective on the issues and proposed solutions. Other voters may not receive information necessary for informed decisions about the candidates.

"We urge you to visit VOTE411.org to learn more about candidate views. We also urge you to make known your expectations for more open and transparent behavior on the parts of candidates who want your vote."

The only contested race on the May primary ballot is for the 3rd District Board of Education race in which three candidates are vying for the two spots on the November ballot.

The 3rd District represents northern Calvert. The candidates are Jeanette L. Flaim, Melissa Goshorn and Kelly D. McConkey.

Although the school board elections are non-partisan, the Calvert County GOP on their Facebook page said, "CCRCC (Calvert County Republican Central Committee) recognizes that candidates for the Board of Education run as non-partisan. We are proud to endorse Melissa Goshorn for the Board of Education this Primary Election! Melissa has shown in action her ability to protect our values in educational excellence and parental rights."

Although the Calvert Democrats have no endorsement on their social media, Flaim is a former chair of the Democratic Central Committee, and their Facebook page has a notice of a fundraiser for her.

Study: No School Support Staff Paid Below Market Average

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

A compensation study by a consultant has concluded that all support staff in Calvert County Public Schools (CCPS) make above the market rate for their position.

The study presented to the school board on April 11 by Teresa Daulong, vice president of Client Services – HR Experience Management Institute LLC (EXMI) of Delaware, OH, concluded:

"One, all Support Staff job roles are within the minimum market range. There are no positions being paid under market. Market range is defined as the market midpoint +/- 20 percent based on industry standard and best practice. Twelve job roles are above the market range.

"Two, a few job roles have different titles but similar job evaluation points.

"Three, eight job roles are paid at salary schedules higher than the published CAESS (Calvert Association of Education Support Staff) agreement.

"Four, no evidence of gender or race valuation discrimination is found in the data analyzed."

She reported, "Based on our findings, the EXMI team had the following recommendations:

"One, align titles based on job evaluation points and/or salary scale to clarify job titles, help alleviate perceptions of inequity, and improve trust in the compensation system.

"Two, update the support staff position title/salary scale list by removing obsolete job roles and adding new positions. Ensure all salary scales and job roles are up to date.

"Three, review job roles with different titles but similar job evaluation points for redundancy of job tasks and alignment of salary scales.

"Four, document CCPS processes and procedures to ensure equity and transparency in job role creation and placement, hiring, promotions, etc.

"Five, begin succession planning for key positions. This report reflects the results of EXMI's scope of work as outlined in the CCPS study requirements."

The consultant compared Calvert to eight other school systems, either neighboring or of similar size. The report doesn't consider pay for private sector jobs; School board Vice President Inez Claggett questioned both of those methodologies.

Claggett said Prince George's and Anne Arundel were much larger systems with more people in each job. Daulong said that's taken into consideration.

Regarding private section employment, Daulong said, "That's very hard to compare because the private sector doesn't give that data up. They don't publish their benefits package. They don't publish their 401k. They don't give that information up. So it's very hard to compare that."

Sludge Spill Leaks into Hellen's Creek

The Calvert County Department of Public Works, Water and Sewer Division advises citizens that a ruptured pipe at Solomons Wastewater Treatment Plant, located at 500 Sweetwater Road in Lusby, led to an accidental spill of sludge. There is no impact to drinking water.

Upon discovering the leak, staff followed protocol, turned the pumps off and closed the valves, initiating immediate cleanup procedures. To mitigate environmental impact, lime was applied over the affected area.

It was determined that approximately 17,500 gallons of return-activated sludge reached a nearby stream that feeds into Hellen's Creek. The Maryland Department of Emergency Management was contacted immediately, and bilingual signage was posted around the spill site.

Long Time Calvert Educator Continues to Make an Impact

By Dave Spigler
Contributing Writer

Dr. Ted Haynie is a very popular, well-known educator in Calvert County. Since “retiring” in 2009 following 37 years in the Calvert County Public School system as an Assistant Principal and Principal, he continues to volunteer and enthusiastically support his community in leading many charitable efforts to improve the lives of our citizens today.

Ted is a DC native and grew up in Hyattsville in Prince Georges County. He was both an athlete and a scholar at Northwestern High School where, as a member of their varsity basketball team, he won the Maryland State Basketball Championship in 1967. He considers it to be one of his life’s biggest highlights! Moving to Southern Maryland is also one of his highlights. He and his family always had an attachment to Calvert County as his grandfather Bob Benner built two cottages at Carpenter’s Beach at Plum Point. For many years, Ted and his family were regular visitors there and he grew to love the quality-of-life Calvert County offered.

But moving to Calvert would have to wait while Ted pursued his education, first earning a degree in teaching at Bowie State College in 1972, and his Master’s in Education at the University of Maryland in 1975. And following three years of teaching in Prince Georges he finally moved to Calvert in 1975 and first taught at Northern Middle where he also served as an assistant baseball coach at Northern High. His team won the 1976 SMAC Baseball Championship. He transferred to Calvert Elementary and was later appointed Assistant Principal at Mutual in 1980. He then served at Mount Harmony as the Assistant Principal and was later appointed Principal at Southern Middle in 1986. He became Principal at Appeal Elementary and then opened St. Leonard Elementary as its first Principal in 1996. Along the way he completed his Doctorate from George Washington University in DC.

Ted thoroughly enjoys getting out into the community and meeting and interacting with people who share his love for Calvert County. Five years ago, he discovered a reading camp that was held in Prince Frederick for elementary school-aged students. He learned the camp served only county students from Prince Frederick and north. There was no opportunity for students in the southern part of the county, so in 2019, he organized a group to start a similar camp for these students at the Middleham-St. Peters Church in Lusby. After five years as its director, he has now moved on to pursue more challenges and adventures.

Two years ago, he along with a group of friends, helped form the “Friends of Millcreek Watershed” [FOMC] Group, one of several in the County that complete annual testing of County streams to analyze the water and create steps to correct problems and deficiencies as necessary. As we live in a place completely surrounded by water, Ted believes it is important for every citizen to take personal responsibility and pay attention to the water quality and advocate for practices that keep our waterways swimmable and fishable. The Group just completed their annual testing called the “Water Blitz” on April 6th and will share the results soon.

Ted recently was approved for appointment to the Calvert Marine Museum Board of Governors, a role that brings him great joy as his grandfather Bob was an early advocate for creating the Museum. Ted always believed this facility was the “crown jewel” within our community as these folks are the “custodians” of our history dating back millions of years with their paleontological work and wonderful exhibits documenting the Chesapeake Bay’s history, wildlife, and industries. This position keeps him busy in a role he loves.

And just this past year, Ted joined the Optimists Club of Solomons following an invitation from a friend. As a school Principal and a resident of Solomons, he was very aware of their great work and programs with the youth of the local area. Knowing their mission “to make the world a better place one child at a time” and the history of their work, Ted believed his lifelong dedication and support of children made him a good fit for this new role! He immediately rolled up his sleeves to help organize the Club’s 50th Anniversary Celebration and lead the way in recruiting sponsors from his many friends for the large dinner held at the Calvert Marine Museum’s Hall this past February! He claims he is truly interested in becoming more involved in their many events and activities that serve our community.

Finally, Ted is currently serving as President of the Solomons Civic Association [SCA] as well, but admits he was not always successful in all his endeavors he has attempted during his lifetime. With the encouragement of several close friends, he ran for County Commissioner in 2019, but did not get elected. He would be the first to tell you he was “no politician” however he thoroughly enjoyed being out in the community working with so many people who shared a love for Calvert and its future. For him it wasn’t a huge disappointment and it obviously didn’t dim his outlook nor his desires to continue to support our fine citizens.

Ted states “he considers himself very fortunate to be able to live in such a beautiful and unique place and feels it is an honor and a privilege to join so many others in making these small contributions to keep it that way!”

Great-Great-Grandmother Relishes Life and Five Generations of Family

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Dorothy Morgan just turned 89 years old last week and still loves life, living by herself in single story rambler on the banks of Persimmon Creek in Mechanicsville.

She is, in essence, the matriarch of her family, enjoying the company of her children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren on their family property, Morgan Brothers Farm, which was recently honored by the state for being in continual operation for 100 years: a centennial farm.

"I do everything I want to do," Morgan said. "And I have a good time doing it.

"I play the slot machines [in Chesapeake Beach], I play cards."

She drives by herself and takes care of all of her own housework, save for doing outdoor yard chores during the hot summer months.

She relies on her grandson Jeff Raley for things like that.

"This boy's my life right here," she said of her 44-year-old grandson.

"We've worked a lot side by side," Jeff said.

The whole family has a tradition steeped in farming and, though she doesn't do farm chores now, she still helps with the family business.

Dorothy Morgan displays a citation presented to Morgan Brothers Farm for 100 years in operation.

"I take care of the bills and boss them around," she said with a laugh. "I've been here [on the farm] for 72 years.

"I never thought I would make it this far."

She's had a life filled with hard farm labor that has taken a heavy physical toll on her; she's had three heart attacks, a three-way bypass surgery and even lived through an incident in the early 1990s where a runaway tractor knocked her down and ran over her chest, breaking seven ribs and cracking the rest.

She blacked out and when she awoke, she had to crawl to get help from a neighbor.

She's even outlived two of her own children, but despite everything she's been through she takes it all in stride, even with a laugh and a smile on her face.

"If I keep going this way it looks like I'm going to outlive most of my children," she said jokingly. "I've survived all of it."

She's the oldest of four siblings.

Nothing seems to be able to stand in her way. "Very few people believe I'm 89," Morgan said. "If I want to do it, I'm going to find a way to do it."

Morgan said she has a very simple philosophy when it comes to longevity.

Her life of hard work, she said, from all kinds of farm chores to cutting, hanging and stripping tobacco in summer heat, has been responsible for keeping her going.

"Yeah, by working hard," she said emphatically. "You've got to get plenty of exercise.

"Don't sit still to save your body; I've worked hard and kept my body in shape."

the music they love, and their great delight and considerable chops will be evident pretty quick into their first set. In their musical lives, these guys have played in just about every state in the union and many countries around the world, but they have all claimed that their favorite gigs are when they can play together. In Remembrance

Jack Candela, 89

John Alfonso "Jack" Candela, 89 of California, MD passed away on April 10, 2024 at George Washington Hospital, Washington, DC, with his loving family at his side.

He was born on November 27, 1934 in Brooklyn, NY to the late Pompeo Benjamin Candela, M.D. and Gwendolen Cornack Candela. Jack moved to St. Mary's County in 1944 with his mother and two sisters. He attributed much of his success and work ethic to his time spent working at the Yates Family farm in Compton, MD during his youth.

In 1952, Jack graduated from St. Mary's Academy in Leonardtown, MD. After graduation, he immediately began his lifelong career in banking, working his way from bank teller to the CEO and Chairman of the Board of First National Bank of St. Mary's. He retired after 53 years of dedicated service in the banking industry. On April 21, 1956, he married his beloved wife, Mary Ada Burch, at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Leonardtown, MD. They were 11 days shy of celebrating their 69th wedding anniversary.

Jack dedicated his time and talents to the Southern Maryland community through his service with local foundations, volunteer organizations, and his Church. Jack was a lifetime member of the Leonardtown Lions Club and past member of Leonardtown Volunteer Fire Department, where he served 14 years. In addition, he was proud to serve in the Army National Guard for 11 years.

Jack enjoyed many hobbies such as tennis, playing cards, boating, and framing Mary Ada's paintings. Above all, Jack loved his family. He deeply cherished the time he spent with those most important in his life. Nothing made Jack happier or prouder than his grandchildren.

Jack's life was a testament to hard work, dedication and a deep love for his family and friends. He cherished each and every moment surrounded by loved ones. The Candela family thanks everyone who shared special moments in his life and have joined us in celebrating a life well lived.

In addition to his wife, Mary Ada, he is survived by his two daughters, Marylee Candela Kreamer (Kenneth) of Mooresville, NC and Leigh Ann Candela Keller (Ernest) of Waldorf, MD. Also surviving him are his grandchildren: Ryan Kreamer (Katie), Matthew Kreamer, Emily Keller (Theodore), and Lindsey Keller; great grandchildren, Cole and Caleb Kreamer. He is preceded in death by his sister, Marianne Candela Stone, and his twin, Arlene Candela Cullins.

The family will receive friends on Tuesday, April 16, 2024, from 5:00 to 8:00 p.m., with prayers at 7:00 p.m., at Brinsfield Funeral Home, P.A., 22955 Hollywood Road, Leonardtown, MD 20650. A Mass of Catholic Burial will be celebrated on Wednesday, April 17, 2024 at 11:00 a.m. at St. Aloysius Catholic Church, 22800 Washington Street, Leonardtown, MD 20650. Interment will follow in the church cemetery.

Serving as pallbearers will be George Kalnasy, Jr., Paul Kalnasy, David Cullins; Tim Cullins; Chris Cullins; and Ted Glaros. Honorary pallbearers will be: Bill Cullins, Michael Rigby, Joe Johnston, Ned Brinsfield; Ernie Bell; and Al Gough.

James Thorne, 89

James Eugene Thorne, 89 of Port Republic (formerly of Charlotte Hall), MD, passed away at home with his family by his side on April 6, 2024. He was born on March 23, 1935, in Meadows, MD to the late Richard Russell Thorne and the late Margaret (Randall) Thorne.

James, fondly known as "Sid" to most and "Jim" to others, had a green thumb and could grow just about anything when he was gardening, played his favorite lottery numbers every day, and was a friend to all who knew him. He was a member of the Antique Automobile Club of America for 63 years and could work on or tell you anything you would want to know about old vehicles. Having joined the Forestville Volunteer Fire Department at the age of 14, he has been a member for 75 years.

More than anything in life, he loved his family.

Soon after his graduation from Frederick Sasser High School in Upper Marlboro, MD, he was drafted into the U.S. Army in 1957 and his first assignment was Ft. Leonard Wood, MO, where he attended engineer school. Once his training was complete, he was assigned to the Headquarters Battery 18th Artillery Group, Pittsburgh, PA, as part of more than a dozen missile sites established to protect the "Pittsburgh Defense Area" from any foreign interference to the steel capital of the world during that time. He was Honorably Discharged from the U.S. Army Corps Reserves in 1963.

While stationed in Pittsburgh, he met the love of his life Lois (McClelland) Thorne. They would be married 64 years on May 14th and were blessed with their daughter Kim Gryskewicz (Paul), grandchildren James, (Jessica), John (Nikkie), and Abby (Casey), as well as, eight great-children, Albert, Lacey, Jack, Henry, Eloise, Jago, Letty and Paul, whom he adored.

He worked at Andrews Air Force Base, PEPCO, and finally, the District of Columbia Fire Department, where he worked for almost 30 years as a mechanic, machinist, and Shop Foreman within the Apparatus Division until his retirement.

In 1967, he rescued his neighbor from her home that was engulfed in flames after a Navy Jet crashed into it. Because of his valiant efforts, he was awarded the Carnegie Bronze Medal of Honor. Again in 1996, he was nominated for "extraordinary" volunteer work and as a "community Hero" and was selected as one of 100 Maryland participants to be an Olympic Torch Bearer for the 1996 Olympics. He was a humble man and very honored by these two special recognitions.

James was predeceased by his brothers, Charles R. Thorne, Paul H. Thorne, Sr.; sisters, Ruth R. Alvey, Martha J. Schuman, and Elsie M. Sayler. He is survived by his brother, John W. Thorne, sister-in-law Janet (Denny) Steigerwald, as well as, many loving nieces and nephews.

The family will receive friends for a visitation on Monday, April 15, 2024, from 5:00-8:00 p.m. and on Tuesday, April 16, 2024, for a memorial service beginning at 11:00 a.m. at Brinsfield Funeral Home, P.A., 30195 Three Notch Road Charlotte Hall, MD 20622.

Interment will follow the service at Queen of Peace Cemetery, 38888 Dr. Johnson Road, Mechanicsville, MD 20659.

Pallbearers will be James Gryskewicz, John Gryskewicz, Casey Braswell, Paul Thorne, Jeff Thorne and Greg McVerry. Honorable pallbearers will be John Thorne, Paul Gryskewicz and Don Jump.

Memorial donations may be made to the Tunnel to Towers Foundation, 2361 Hylan Blvd, Staten Island, NY 10306, or t2t.org.

Condolences to the family may be made at www.brinsfieldfuneral.com.

Arrangements by Brinsfield Funeral Home & Crematory, P.A., Charlotte Hall, MD.

The Tackle Box Fishing Report

Mike Bowen Sr. and Jr. show catfish caught Sunday afternoon off Patuxent shoreline near Hollywood Shores.

By Ken Lamb
Contributing Writer

Blue catfish are everywhere in the Patuxent and Potomac.

Shore fishermen are doing well, from the piers in Bushwood to the museum in Compton in the Potomac. The public area in Leonardtown in Breton Bay behind Ryken high school is good. College boys have found catfish from Church Point in St. Mary's City. Now that the winds have calmed, boaters will find catfish from St. George Island to Washington D.C.

The Patuxent has catfish all the way to Hog Point in the mouth of the River. Benedict, Greenwell State Park, Hollywood Shores, and the mouth of St. Leonard Creek have reported good catches. Just about any pier in the Patuxent and Potomac should have catfish. The fish feed better at night.

The bay temperature is 56°. The warm sunny days this week should bring the perch into the creeks. Baited pots off piers will now find the first crabs of the season.

Puppy drum, seatrout and spot are due in a few weeks.

Spring is here; lets go fishing!

A View From The BLEACHERS

SPORTS PLEASE

By Ronald N. Guy Jr.
Contributing Writer

As this "View" gets underway, an unencumbered journey into the world of sports has been interrupted by the site of Iranian missiles raining down on Israel. This, of course, is fresh off Israeli-Hamas hostilities and occurs while war rages on in Ukraine, tensions remain high in the South China Sea and the future of Taiwan is very much uncertain. As always, the world is a heavy place; jarring reminders are unnecessary, but, as history shows, they are inevitable.

There will be no breakdown of any of the above in this column, and certainly no politicization of it. The former I'll leave to real experts and reputable media sources. Regarding the politicization, that will inevitably occur on your favorite social media portal. And a quick scan in the wake of the attack on Israel indicates it is very much underway. Facebook, Twitter/X, Truth Social, etc. – pick your favorite social media cesspool, plug in your brain and prepare to be reprogramed with someone's agenda and whipped into some sort of misinformed frenzy that will, at the very least, raise blood pressures and damn well could cause alienation from friends and family. Because if we aren't freaking out based on sketchy news, blindly consuming A.I. fallacies, retreating to our socially engineered tribes, raging against our fellow Americans (note: we are allies, not enemies) who have a different point of view, and generating misguided victimhood, we aren't trying hard enough.

Joy. To. The. World.

Ah, but this sports retreat is only delayed, not deterred. Have a seat. The beer man and peanut vendor, brave souls dedicated to do-good-ery, just climbed the steep stairs to the upper reaches of the bleachers to deliver a fresh bag of legumes and a massive plastic cup filled with fermented grains. No inflation here – this stuff has always defied any rational pricing curve. The cost matters little: this is exactly what's needed to settle the pulse and improve the mood.

Our little sports cabin in the mountains isn't a perfect retreat, though. It has its issues – a bad roof, drafty windows and a fridge that struggles to keep beer appropriately cold. The transfer portal in college sports has made roster-building an annual endeavor and rendered long-term school-athlete-fan relationships a rarity. Conference membership has the durability of a scoop of ice cream in my presence. Too many pitchers are getting injured. NFL mock draft overexposure syndrome is highly contagious. Shohei Ohtani's interpreter is the latest example of sports' recent embracement of gambling. Can you have it both ways – benefitting from gambling's boost to interest (and revenue) in sports while maintaining the precious integrity of the competition? Gut instinct from a duped steroid era fan: no.

Then one looks around and the skeptical nerves calm and the cynicism abates. The view from the bleachers is rich, indeed. Caitlin Clark is dropping threes and South Carolina is going undefeated. Alexander Ovechkin is scoring goals again and his march toward Wayne Gretzky's record is reenergized. Jackson Holiday reported to Baltimore; James Wood is bound for D.C. soon. The NBA and NHL playoffs are about to begin. The Paris Olympics arrive this summer. The pending selection of a new quarterback (and a new name too???) – on the heels of a new owner, general manager, coach and darn near everything else – has made it feel like spring again for D.C. football fans.

The incredible games, the fantastic competition and compelling stories can, at least temporarily, transcend the warts of the sports world and worries over existential global crises. That is part of the magic of sports: being the tonic, the elixir, the special sauce, the spoonful of sugar that makes the real world's medicine go down. And as usual, in these difficult times, I am grateful for having been bitten long ago by the sports bug. If you weren't, or maybe not as deeply – no matter. Indulge your favorite interests. Maybe it is music or books. Comedy. Gardening. Hiking. Movies. Art. Theater. It is a beautiful and amazing world out there – mostly, but not always. So, when "not always" happens, hold tight to your pleasurable distractions, for sanity's sake.

St. Mary's Couple Takes Home Third-Tier Powerball Prize

St. Mary's County residents Joseph and Sylvia Riley celebrate a $50,000 third-tier Powerball win

A jackpot-chasing couple from Southern Maryland missed a huge jackpot by one number in the Powerball drawing on Saturday, April 6. However, the fun-loving players are very grateful about their $50,004 third-tier win.

Joseph and Sylvia Riley from St. Mary's County only start playing the jackpot games, Mega Millions and Powerball, when a game's jackpot reaches $250 million. Last week, the Powerball jackpot climbed to an estimated $1.3 billion, so Joseph made a special stop at Walmart #1981 located at 45485 Miramar Way in California specifically to get tickets. He purchased a $10 quick-pick ticket and later hid it in a safe place at home.

The weekend arrived and the April 6 Powerball drawing had come and gone with a jackpot win reported in Oregon. However, there were three $50,000 third-tier winners from Maryland. After hearing about that,

Joseph made sure to check the ticket to see if he matched any of the winning numbers.

"I saw I matched four white balls and the Powerball and I got excited," said Joseph. "I probably checked that ticket four or five times to be sure."

Confident that he won $50,000, plus $4 because he also matched one white ball and the Powerball on another line, the husband called his wife to take a look.

"He told me we won $50,000 but I owed him money for my portion of the ticket," said Sylvia, laughing. "He's always messing around."

They then shared the news with their children. The couple claimed their $50,004 prize this week at Lottery headquarters in Baltimore, deciding to split the prize equally down the middle.

Joseph and Sylvia told Lottery officials that they plan to use their winnings to help family members and to take a family vacation.

Charlotte Hall Farmers Market Demolished

Demolition began last week on the old Charlotte Hall Farmers Market which stood for decades in the northern reaches of St. Mary's County. It drew dozens of vendors of all kinds and thousands of people to shop there each weekend.

NAVAL AIR STATION PATUXENT RIVER News

Advances in Unmanned Systems, Additive Manufacturing Highlight Sea-Air-Space 2024

Naval Air Systems Command (NAVAIR) kicked off the 2024 Sea-Air-Space Expo on Monday with panel discussions on manned/unmanned and weapon systems advancements, additive manufacturing success stories and collaborative opportunities for small businesses to join with NAVAIR to aid the warfighter.

The first panel was led by Rear Admiral Stephen Tedford, executive officer of the Program Executive Office for Unmanned Aviation and Strike Weapons. PEO(U&W) includes 12 programs offices that design, build, deliver and sustain the Navy's unmanned aircraft, weapons, targets, aircrew systems and common support equipment. The PEO delivers state-of-the-art warfighting capabilities to Sailors and Marines around the world.

Tedford highlighted a few innovations created over the past year from the program including the joint SDB-II (Small Diameter Bomb) Smart Weapon reaching initial operational capability for F/A-18 E/F Super Hornets; a soundwave deflection helmet for deployed sailors aboard the USS Abraham Lincoln (CVN 72); the BQM-177 Subsonic Aerial Target integrating the ALE-

47 countermeasures payload; Advanced Precision Weapon Kill Systems (APWKS) being deployed in the Red Sea to aid in conflicts there; the addition of the AIM-9X Sidewinder missiles to F/A-18 Super Hornet aircraft also deployed in Red Sea support activities; and the program office examining efforts to advance engine testing capabilities.

Tedford said since last year, the unmanned air systems (UAS) program has deployed three MQ-4 Triton unmanned air systems (UAS) to Guam; the TRV-150 tactical resupply UAS has reached initial operating capability (IOC); the MQ-9 Reaper completed its first flight at Naval Air Station Patuxent River, Maryland; delivered the first MQ-25 Stingray static test aircraft, aiming toward IOC in 2026; and began autonomous behavior on the MQ-20 Avenger UAS.

Artificial intelligence and autonomy of UAS is an ongoing development, he said, but one the team is approaching with an air of caution.

"In our ability to get after a truly artificial intelligence autonomous system, especially one in the future, that we have the intent of arming with weapons, we're going to have to start with a foundation of trust," he said. "How do we trust? How do we evaluate? How do we test to make sure that the autonomy in the AI is doing exactly what we want it to do and it's staying within the guardrails of both our rules of engagement also our ethical rules of engagement for AI and autonomous systems?"

Theodore Gronda, program manager for the NAVAIR Additive Manufacturing (AM) Team, began his panel discussion by highlighting that the AM team was established in order to create parts in small quantities, when needed, to get a grounded aircraft back in service in a faster time than relying on industry partners for supply chain gaps. Additive Manufacturing is the ability to "print" an object based on information fed into a device much like a 3D printer.

Currently, there are 96 AM devices deployed to 33 sites, including deployed aircraft carriers.

One of the newer capabilities Gronda announced was the addition of a "Solid State" cold spray technology, which uses a metal powder to spray and build up or repair a designated item.

One success story related to the team was the ability to repair tire rim assemblies on F/A-18 Hornets. Gronda said pilots often land hard on carrier decks, causing the landing gear wheel hub to oblong and the tire to shake. If the tire shakes, it is taken off and discarded.

"That tire is wildly expensive," Gronda said. "There wasn't an effective way to repair it. We go through 166 of these tires a year and they cost six figures apiece. Eighty percent of those tires are repairable with cold spray technology. It takes me two hours and costs $300. It's a big deal for us. And what that's done is taught us to think different. Stuff that we previously thought was not repairable is repairable now with cool spray and our additive manufacturing repair machines."

The Sea-Air-Space Exposition, taking place at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center at the National Harbor, Maryland, is an annual event hosted by the Navy League of the United States. SAS brings together the U.S. defense industrial base, private-sector U.S. companies, key military decision-makers, and international allies and partners for an innovative, educational and professional maritime-based event.

'Raising taxes should be the last resort'

The commissioners of St. Mary's county proposed FY2025 county budget includes a massive $15.2 million increase in taxes, the largest tax increase in the history of St. Mary's county. The high costs of food, housing, fuel and utilities is stressing the budgets of all our residents. Raising taxes should be the last resort after all efforts to find savings have been exhausted. Now is the worst time to raise taxes on our residents.

More than one commissioner has placed the blame for raising taxes on the state for cutting revenues to our school system. The state has cited falling enrollment and the inefficient use of school facilities as reasons for reduced funding. The Blueprint for Education (Blueprint) is credited as the reason "the state has let us down." If passed, the local income tax rate will be the maximum allowed under Maryland law. By maxing out the rate we lose our flexibility to raise revenues at a later date if necessary. There are substantial savings to be found and it's the reason I voted against the tax increases.

The Blueprint is a state initiative that attempts to determine adequate funding amounts by the county to the Board of Education (BOE). The county has given the BOE millions of dollars in funding above maintenance of effort, far exceeding the amount Blueprint recommends. The state claims the BOE is not spending taxpayer dollars efficiently.

St. Mary's County Public School (SMCPS) enrollment has been falling for several years. It has lost well over 500 students since the end of the COVID-19 crisis. Elementary schools have seen the majority of the lost enrollment and hundreds of seats are currently available. The Board of Education refuses to redistrict students to fill the empty seats. They claim student enrollment will increase but the current multi-year trend does not support their claim.

The Blueprint calls for a starting teacher's salary of $60k by July 1, 2026. The new contract with the teachers union starts the salary at $60k on July 1, 2024, two years early. That amounts to a 16.5% increase over 2023. The salary increases could be phased in over three years. A 5.5% increase on July 1, 2024, 2025 and 2026 would comply with Blueprint formula requirements. Reasonable increases every year for the next three years would be similar to county and sheriff department employee salary increases.

The Blueprint identifies St. Mary's county with additional wealth due to rising property assessments and average salaries of its residents. The "wealth equalized" factor impacts state funding. Those impacts can be made up by the county. Projected FY2024 to FY2025 revenue growth is over $7 million. The county can fund the wealth equalization formula reduction without raising income taxes. The BOE can find savings by redistricting students and closing schools built almost 70 years ago. The reduction in staffing could be done through attrition and a hiring freeze.

There are hard decisions the BOE needs to make that benefits all county residents and not just the school system. It's not fair to ask taxpayers, especially seniors, the poor, and those on fixed incomes to pay higher taxes when more efficient use of existing resources can make up the funding gap. The state hasn't let us down by implementing the Blueprint formula. Phasing in the salary increases, redistricting students to fill empty seats and closing old facilities will eliminate the need for a tax increase. Please reach out to the commissioners and ask them to rescind this unnecessary tax increase

*Michael Hewitt
St Mary's County Commissioner
District 2, Hollywood-Leonardtown*

'A forward looking budget'

There is never an easy time to raise taxes and such decisions are never made lightly. I want to ensure our residents have a full picture of our current situation and the need for a small increase in the Income Tax rate. Our county budget has multiple sources of revenue, the biggest of which are the Income Tax and Property Tax. All five commissioners were unanimous that we could not hold "Constant Yield" and keep the property tax flat, but we did not increase our property tax rate. The proposed Income Tax increase from 3.0% to 3.2% would mean that a person making $100,000 would pay $200 more in local income tax over the year—a real and meaningful sum of money that is definitely impactful for a family.

The Blueprint for Education is a flawed formula for the state of Maryland and detrimental to the counties. Commissioner Hewitt is correct in his letter that the county has exceeded the Blueprint funding requirements, but what is important to note is that the Blueprint funding formula does not include everything that is needed for a school system to operate. It does not include transportation costs, safety and security costs, and enrichment programs like band, chorus, art, and STEM. I do not want to have a St. Mary's County school system without these important programs. The Blueprint also does not take into account positions like paraprofessionals, building service workers, athletic trainers, or other support staff—all who play important and vital roles in our education system.

The Blueprint does require a starting salary for teachers of $60,000 by July 1, 2026. The Board of Education plan increases the salaries of our newest teachers to reach that amount early, but it does not provide a comparable raise to our more tenured teachers—it is not an increase across the board for all teachers. To delay implementation of this portion of the Blueprint would not be a fiscally smart or strategic step for several reasons. First, every county is currently working toward that goal, so competition to hire good teachers will only get more difficult as we compete with other higher salary counties. Second, we have additional county obligations that will also be increasing over the next several years, and delaying implementation would result in a fiscal deficit that would require higher tax increases. This is a forward looking budget that ensures no additional tax increases. We must ensure our law enforcement officers have competitive salaries. We promised to revisit LOSAP benefits for our volunteer first responders next year, and that will be an additional but important cost for the county. We have a phased-in increase in salaries for county employees to ensure they remain competitive and can continue to provide services to our county residents. In fact, the only cost savings proposed for the County government during the building of our budget was to decrease the St. Mary's County employee healthcare benefits—a proposal that, thankfully, was defeated. Additionally, I do not want to see schools like Town Creek Elementary, White Marsh Elementary, and Oakville Elementary closed, which could be a real risk for our school system with the increased requirements they need to meet.

All of this is being accomplished in the current proposed balanced budget that keeps our property tax rate at the fourth lowest in the entire state. We blame the state government for this tax increase because instead of funding the requirements they laid out in the Blueprint, they spent tax dollars on buying a failing horse race-track. None of us like paying taxes or seeing this increase, but it is important to note that every tax dollar for St. Mary's County stays in St. Mary's County—not to a race track elsewhere or a purple/red/blue line. St. Mary's County remains a great place to live, work, and raise a family and we are committed to ensuring it remains that way.

Man Arrested for DUI and CDS Possession

On Thursday, April 11, 2024, St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office Deputies were called to the 24000 block of Point Lookout Road, Leonardtown, MD, for the report of a vehicle blocking the northbound lane. Deputies arrived to find the driver and sole occupant asleep in the running vehicle.

The operator, identified as Jeffrey Neil Shade, 39, of Hollywood, MD, displayed signs of impairment, and as a result, deputies performed standardized field sobriety tests, which were completed unsatisfactorily. Shade was then arrested for driving while impaired by a controlled dangerous substance. A subsequent search revealed Shade had crack cocaine concealed on his person and was also charged with CDS: possession – not cannabis.

Deputies transported Shade to the St. Mary's County Detention and Rehabilitation Center to await a bond hearing.

Lexington Park Man Charged with Attempted Murder

On Sunday, April 14, 2024, Deputies from the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office responded to a disturbance at Paradise Bar and Lounge located at 21367 Great Mills Road in Lexington Park, MD, where they found an individual suffering from multiple stab wounds.

A preliminary investigation revealed an argument between the victim and the suspect escalated into a physical altercation and resulted in the victim, a 64-year-old male, receiving multiple stab wounds. The victim was flown by Trooper 7 of the Maryland State Police Aviation Command to an area hospital for medical treatment, where he is currently listed in stable condition.

The suspect, identified by witnesses as being involved in the stabbing, fled the scene but was later apprehended during a traffic stop on Great Mills Road in Lexington Park. State Troopers Investigating Fatal Collision

On Saturday, April 13, 2024, at approximately 0001 hours, Troopers from Maryland State Police La Plata Barrack responded to Maryland Route 5 in the area of Wolfe Drive for a report of a serious motor vehicle collision. Due to the circumstances, a Collision Reconstruction Specialist (CRS) was requested and TFC. J. Engleman, of the MSP Leonardtown Barrack responded to assume the investigation.

A preliminary investigation conducted by Troopers from the MSP La Plata Barrack and the Collision Reconstruction Specialist indicates a Toyota Camry operated by Renee Hull (45 yoa) of Lexington Park, MD was traveling on southbound Maryland Route 5 in the area of the Wolfe Drive. At the same time, a pedestrian identified as Enoch F. Rogers (28 yoa) of Clinton, MD was walking northbound in the southbound lanes. Mr. Rogers was in the travel path of the Toyota and was ultimately struck. Mr. Rogers sustained injuries not compatible with life and was pronounced deceased on the scene. Pedestrian error appears to be the factor in the collision.

Anyone who may have witnessed this crash is asked to contact the Duty Officer at the MSP La Plata Barrack (301) 392-1200. The investigation is continuing. (24-MSP-011711)

'Hopeful' Sign Ready to Be Lighted

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The public art project known as the “hopeful sign” has been in the community for about two years now, but not officially revealed to the public.

But elected and community leaders are ready to show it openly at the Church of the Ascension on Great Mills Road in Lexington Park on Friday evening.

Rev. Greg Syler, the rector at Church of the Ascension was initially a little skeptical of the custom-built sign, the work of artist Charlie Hewitt, who is also the brother of County Commissioner Mike Hewitt.

Syler was careful not to commit to having the sign sit prominently on the church property until there were more signs in the community of more hopefulness.

Two years on from the sign's entry into St. Mary's and Syler said he is more confident that the artwork is not just a hollow gesture.

“We pushed back a little bit on the timing,” Syler said. “I did feel like it was putting the cart before the horse.

“But it appears that some long-term commitments to hopefulness have emerged.”

Syler pointed to a now fully-staffed sheriff's office substation next door to the church that had long lacked standby personnel until recently as one of the most significant investments in the greater Lexington Park area of late.

Also, he saw more hopeful signs of improvement with local government pursuit of bus stops for better access to public transportation along with bus shelters for riders who have to wait for pickup.

Planned street lighting improvements on Great Mills Road as well as talks of enhancing traffic safety measures on old streets such as North Essex and Midway Drive — either stop signs or speed humps — also gave Syler confidence the county's oldest urban area was in focus once again.

Much of this work has been undertaken by the Community Development Corporation, Syler said, whose mission it is to promote and improve Lexington Park.

“They're starting to focus on sustainable efforts in the community,” Syler told The County Times. “There's a sense people are listening... with a focus of getting something done.”

New Broadband Access Measures Approved

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The federal government is making funding available to the states to increase broadband internet access to those who remain underserved or not served at all, but for St. Mary's to take part in that project effectively, said county information technology chief Robert Kelly this week, the county must be able to update its unserved population in a new database first.

To ensure that the most current local broadband data is included in the federal system the county must process and sign a no cost licensing agreement with Costquest, which is the federal government's vendor, which will allow access to the database.

"We've connected a significant number of homes and areas in St. Mary's County, which I don't believe are updated in that database," Kelly said. "I [also] want to include those new addresses [homes permitted to be built] that will be coming in the next few years.

"We have the most current data of who's not connected in St. Mary's County

The critical piece was getting access to that database to ensure there was enough funding for the unserved in the county and not waste money on those who were already connected.

Chief IT Officer Bob Kelly

The second item related to broadband was a memorandum of understanding between the Commissioners of St. Mary's County and Verizon for the broadband provider to expand its infrastructure here.

The total estimated cost of the project is $4.2 million, with roughly half being paid by Verizon and the other half paid for by the state's Department of Housing and Community Development.

Although the County has no financial obligation to the Project, Verizon will require regular project updates and certain County permits to perform construction within County rights-of-way, county planning documents showed.

Commissioners approved both measures.

Second Man Convicted in Hollywood Carnival Shooting

State's Attorney Jaymi Sterling announced today a St. Mary's County jury found Thomas Moreland, 21, of Lexington Park, Maryland, guilty of first-degree murder for his participation in the Hollywood Volunteer Fire Department's carnival shooting that took the life of one 16-year-old and left another teenage victim suffering from two gunshot wounds.

"The annual Hollywood Carnival is a treasured family tradition, but on July 15, 2022, the Defendant, along with others, orchestrated and executed a nightmarish event for those in attendance and inflicted widespread fear that rippled throughout the County and beyond," said Sterling.

After a five-day jury trial, a St. Mary's County jury convicted this Defendant of the following:

- First-degree murder
- Second-degree murder
- Attempted first-degree murder
- Attempted second-degree murder
- First-degree assault
- Conspiracy to commit first-degree assault

The Defendant will be held without bond pending a sentencing hearing. He faces a maximum penalty of Life in prison.

Senior Assistant State's Attorneys Sarah Proctor and Alena Mosier prosecuted the case

School Board Approves Security Camera Purchase

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The St. Mary's County Board of Education approved spending more than $500,000 last week to purchase several hundred replacement security cameras with an artificial intelligence-driven (AI) control system.

This system, said director of schools Department of Safety and Security Charles Eible, would "learn the building" and allow personnel to respond more quickly to incidents inside of a school.

The AI system would be able to adapt to requirements asked of it, including finding people in the building identified as wearing something like a blue shirt, Eible said.

The system can also analyze facial features, Eible's presentation to the school board at their April 10 meeting stated.

The Avigilon Control Center, as the system is known, can also detect unusual movement or congregant patterns inside a building, Eible said, once it has learned to compensate for the normal student movement patterns.

"At 9:15 [a.m.] we know there should be nobody in the hallway because everybody should be in their classroom," Eible said. "It will pick up that unusual motion... because it's learning the layout of the building."

"Then we get the notification."

The system can also analyze video of the building's exterior, Eible said, including the parking lots to spot after-hours parking there or prohibited loitering.

"It's going to recognize that that car shouldn't be there," Eible continued.

The system can also detect who tries to enter the building illegally, including terminated employees who might potentially try to enter with their old identification badge, Eible said.

The facial recognition ability could also be enhanced to allow users to upload images of prohibited persons to a "watchlist," Eible said, that would detect the person upon entry and warn school personnel.

But that was an ability to be considered for the future, Eible said, because it required an additional, one-time licensing fee from the vendor.

Another example of an additional feature would be a camera for reading license plates at school buildings.

"I know that safety is important for everybody," said school board member Dorothy Andrews. "But, it's a lot of money... just to replace a couple of cameras."

"But you are getting the AI portion of the technology," Eible responded.

Andrews was the only board member to vote against the purchase of the new camera system.

Freedom Fest Returning to St. Mary's

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

For years the county government budgeted enough money to hold an annual Freedom Fest at the fairgrounds in Leonardtown, complete with fireworks show and food vendors, that became one of the central summertime events for the whole community.

But about 15 years ago, the county faced budget constraints and decided to cut the funding for Freedom Fest, leaving various community organizations to fend for themselves to pay the cost for a traditional Independence Day fireworks extravaganza.

But now, a regional event promoter and organizer, Nick Simonds, says he and a host of sponsors are ready to bring the iconic celebration back where it belongs.

And it's just a few months away.

"We are definitely moving ahead," Simonds told The County Times in a phone interview this week. "It's 100 percent."

The event is set for the weekend before the traditional 4th of July holiday, Simonds said, and his plans include making it a celebration of freedom and Americana.

"I want it be the kind of event with Uncle Sam walking around on stilts and watermelon-eating contests," Simonds said. "This is going to be a family-friendly event, with no drugs or alcohol allowed.

"And it will be free to all, no admission."

The return of the event, now called the St. Mary's Freedom Fest, Simonds said, has many community partners to make it a reality.

"The county has come on board as a sponsor," Simonds said. "And there are about five or six sponsors supporting the event, too."

The day of the event is June 29, with gates opening at 3 p.m. and the fireworks display set for after dark.

The fireworks will be provided by Tim Jameson, Simonds said, the raconteur of the PyroJam laser fireworks shows, one of which is scheduled for Aug. 24 in Jefferson Patterson Park in neighboring Calvert County.

The community had been without such an event for the whole county since last summer, he said.

"Last year we didn't have anything for the county," Simonds said.

The fireworks display for St. Mary's in the years since the county commissioners cut funding for Freedom Fest was taken on primarily by the Hollywood Volunteer Fire Department, which had its own relatively large fairgrounds to allow for a fireworks show.

But, the volunteer group decided not to hold fireworks last summer, due to the cost and time needed to procure a vendor who could be scheduled to conduct the performance.

The return of the Freedom Fest to the county fairgrounds brings back more parking options for visitors but that will also be extended to nearby school parking lots on the day of the event, Simonds said, and carpooling is encouraged for families and groups to attend.

Sponsors of the event include the Mechanicsville Moose Lodge, St. Mary's County Government, Great Mills Trading Post, Windward Land Development, CTSi, T&T Sweeping and Port-o-Let Service, Eagle Systems and J.F. Taylor.

Food vendors will be on hand as will family-friendly activities such as face painting for children and prizes for the most patriotic outfits.

The event will also include a raffle to win the Survivor Tractor, the iconic farming vehicle built to bring attention to survivors of cancer, with 100 percent of the raffle proceeds going to benefit the Clements Cuties.

The Clements Cuties are a group of softball players who dress in outrageous costumes to raise money to pay for the medical expenses of severely ill children.

The popular local band HydraFX will also be performing during the event from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m.

"I'm incredibly excited that a long standing tradition of fireworks at the fairgrounds is returning this year," said County Commissioner Eric Colvin. "This will be a great family friendly event that everyone will enjoy."

St. Mary's Chooses Its Teacher of the Year

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Lauren Runkles is St. Mary's County's Teacher of the Year, using her Spanish language skills to help teach mathematics to ESOL [English as a Second Language] students at Great Mills High School.

She finds her days filled with helping to teach Algebra and geometry.

"I push in to provide language support and support our ESOL students in class," Runkles said.

One of the issues common to ESOL students is that they are often behind in education from their native countries and then must adjust to learning in an entirely new language.

It presents a serious challenge that teachers like Runkles have to meet head on.

"We have students for whom the last time they were in school was when they were 6 years old," Runkles said. "Others had a private school education in their country and they're fine."

What's more, being a linguistic bridge for her students means she helps them with issues outside of school as well as inside.

"We end up being the counselor, the nurse, part of the family support system," Runkles said. "It's many hats."

A native of Anne Arundel County, Runkles got her post-secondary education at St. Mary's College of Maryland with a major in mathematics, a subject she loves.

She had pursued Advanced Placement Spanish studies in high school but said she lost interest before moving on to college.

But her college roommates, who were from the Dominican Republic and El Salvador, helped her reconnect with her secondary language training.

"I just fell in love with their culture," Runkles told The County Times. "They inspired me to get more fluent in Spanish."

She went on to study abroad in 2007 in Costa Rica and obtained her Master's Degree in teaching from her alma mater.

Like many children in the elementary school grades, Runkles first came to see St. Mary's College on a field trip to Historic St. Mary's City in the 5th grade.

"I said 'Who would come down here?'" said Runkles who said a friend later convinced her to try the public honors college.

She fell in love with the college, she said. "It was the only one I applied to," Runkles said.

Runkles doesn't consider herself as fluent or knowledgeable as some teachers at Great Mills high who are native Spanish speakers, but she's happy to use her skills to teach critical math to students who many times are already behind the learning curve when they matriculate.

"The best laid plans of mice and men... It's a lot of pivoting," she said of constantly having to make adjustments to fit the needs of students. "But it's inspiring, a lot of our kids are doing really well."

The work she does in the classroom has also helped keep her secondary language skills sharp, something she wants to hold on to.

It's something I've gained back and I never want to lose it," Runkles said.
