Health Officer Touts New COVID Booster Shot

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

COVID-19 is still around, and vaccinations are still the best preventative, according to Calvert County Health Officer Dr. Laurence Polsky during his latest report to the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) sitting as the board of health at their Oct. 18 meeting.

“As we head into what will almost certainly be another wave of Covid as we reach late fall and into the winter, it’s really important for people to keep up with their vaccinations,” the health officer said.

Showing a graph that highlighted the dramatic difference, Polsky said, “For people who were unvaccinated, they were about four and a half times more likely to be hospitalized during peaks of waves.”

And regardless of the type of Covid, he said, “Whether Alpha, Delta, Omicron, unvaccinated people were 10 to 12 times more likely to need to be hospitalized than people who were fully vaccinated.”

Polsky touted getting the new Bivalent Covid Vaccine. “Those are a combination of the original vaccine and a new component that targets the BA.4 and BA.5 strains. And that’s very important because we’ve seen with the last wave that more people who were vaccinated with the original vaccination were ending up getting sick.” He explained. He said 90 percent of infections are in one of the two strains.

He said the original vaccine has “really good antibody response against the original strain, pretty good against Beta and Delta, but not a great response against the Omicron strains.”

As to the vaccine formulated for Omicron, it had good response to that strain but not so good against the earlier ones.

But the new vaccine, he said, has “across the board, very good responses.”

He said he and his family have all gotten the Bivalent booster.

Polsky said there’s also an emphasis on getting that new booster more sooner than later because of the upcoming flu season and the potential for another Covid wave.

He said the earlier vaccinating will save lives and money.

Commissioner President Buddy Hance noted that Commissioner Weems was not at the meeting because his son was home sick with the flu. Polsky said, “Nationally, there’ve already been some high schools shut down because they’ve had over 50 percent of their students out sick.”

Polsky observed that flu hasn’t been as prevalent over the last few years, perhaps because people weren’t going out as much and social distancing.

With flu, the advice to parents, “just making sure people stay home when they’re not feeling well, which is what a lot of people did very well during the early days of Covid. If they were feeling sick, they stayed home. We’ve kind of gotten out of that habit, I think a little bit.”

Polsky also reported, “Calvert’s overdose fatality rate is about half of the rate in our surrounding counties and less than half the rate for Maryland as a whole.”

He said, “We know that overdose deaths are not going away completely. It is incumbent on all of us to collectively pull together as a community, to do what we can to minimize the impacts, help those that are ready to get help, and lots of prevention efforts.”

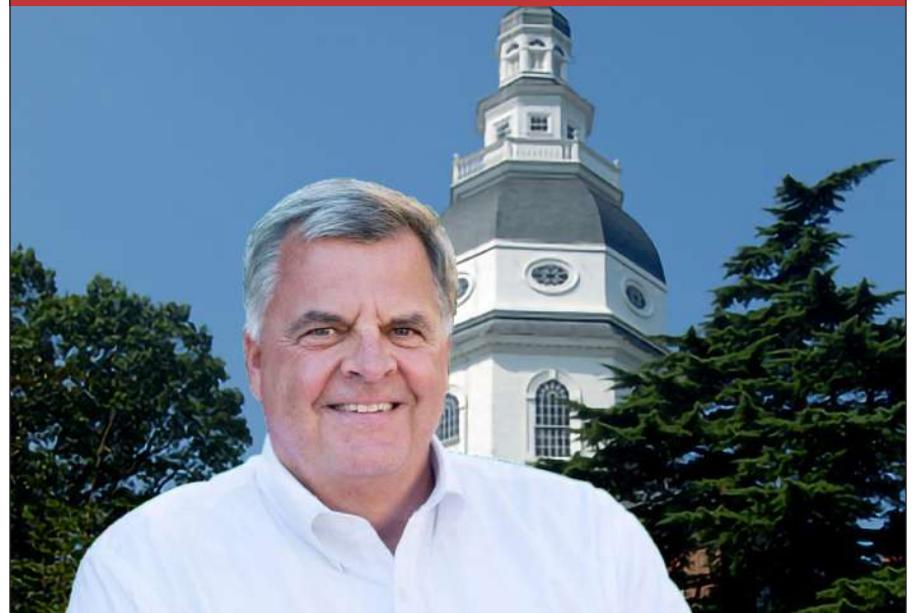

He said of the significant improvement in the fatality rates, “It’s in part because of the work we do with the health department, but very much a collective effort with agencies across the county. And we hope to keep all those efforts up.”

County Prepares for State Transportation Visit

What's Planned for the TJ Bridge?

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT) annual visit to Calvert County is scheduled for Oct. 25 at 10 a.m. The visit is part of the department's tour of Maryland's 23 counties and Baltimore City in advance of the legislative session to report on what is included in the Consolidated Transportation Plan (CTP) presented to the legislature. Maryland Department of Transportation Secretary James F. Ports, Jr., and the heads of MDOT's five business units and one authority are expected to attend.

Ahead of that meeting the Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) got a staff briefing on Oct. 18 on what to expect from the state officials.

The only major project expected is billed as "Study to Upgrade MD 4 between MD 2 and MD 235 including the IJ (Governor Thomas Johnson) Bridge. The bulk of the study limit is in St. Mary's County.

Transportation Planner Jessica Gaetano told the BOCC, "In March 2022, U.S. Senators Ben Cardin and Chris Van Hollen worked to allocate direct federal investments for local projects across the Southern Maryland region within the fiscal year 2022 omnibus funding legislation: $1 million was secured to support the project design for the widening of MD 4 and the Thomas Johnson (TJ) Bridge replacement. The FY23 CTP draft allocates an additional $1 million to the TJ Bridge replacement study."

The amount of funding allocated for a project expected to cost upwards of $1 billion, elicited a quip from Commissioner President Buddy Hance, "What are you going to do with $2 million? It won't fill a pothole."

Gaetano said she has been led to believe the study might include suicide prevention measures for the bridge.

Gaetano noted, "In addition, Calvert County is to receive funding for resurfacing and road rehabilitation projects at various locations throughout the county. Safety and spot improvement funding is to be awarded to Calvert to improve multiple intersections on Hallowing Point Road (MD 231), plus funding for sidewalk upgrades for Bayside Road (MD 261) for Safe Routes to Schools via the Transportation Alternatives Program. The draft includes funding for various replacement and maintenance equipment via the System Preservations Minor Projects Program. Phase 4 of the MD 2/4 widening project in Prince Frederick remains on hold."

Hance said he has been led to believe the Route 231 study will include improvements to the intersections at Eden Lane, Adelina Road and Skipjack Road. He said the Skipjack Road project at the industrial park might be the most problematic because of wetlands and right-of-way restrictions, but he hoped that would be included.

In June, the county presented the following priority list to MDOT:

Highway:

- Governor Thomas Johnson Bridge and MD 4
- MD 2-4 (Phases 3A and 3B) north of the current Phase, north of Fox Run to north of Stoakley Road

- MD 231 Corridor Improvements

Safety:

- MD 231 Corridor
- MD 4 in Anne Arundel County
- MD 261 at Beach Drive

Transit:

- Service Expansion
- Transit Transfer Station

Community Safety and Enhancement Program:

- Safe Routes to school
- Richfield Station Intersection

Report Shows Improvement in Groundwater Source

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

The aquifers underlying Calvert County provide a source of water for residences and businesses. The most used aquifer for water supply is the Aquia, which runs from 100 to 48- feet below ground.

"The Calvert County Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) and the United States Geological Survey (USGS) have had a Joint Funding Agreement in place for several years for the real-time collection of water levels in the Aquia Aquifer," according to Department of Public Works Water & Sewer Division Chief Chris Hall at the Oct. 18 BOCC meeting.

In June the commissioners had requested a briefing on the status of groundwater and Jeff Raffensperger of USGS did just that at the meeting.

Raffensperger explained that in addition to the Aquia, parts of Calvert have underlying it the following:

Upper and Lower Patapsco Greater than 800 feet below ground level)

Limited information due to scarcity of wells

- Significant supply capacity is available

- Increasing use (Lower Patapsco) as a supplement to the Aquia aquifer for larger users since 2015

Magothy (around 700 feet)

- Only present in the northern part of the county

- Rarely used for water supply

- Limited wells in the southern part of the county

Aquia (100-480 feet)

- Generally good water quality
- Water levels declined significantly between 1970 and 2000

- Water levels have remained near constant or recovered since 2000

- Shifting a portion of public-supply withdrawals from the Aquia aquifer to the Patapsco aquifers could result in an increase in available drawdown

Nanjemoy-Piney Point (75-230 feet)

- Generally good water quality
- Reliable long-term water supply

- Water levels remain substantially above Aquia (greater than 800 feet below the surface)

With the precipitous drop in the Aquia Aquifer over the last 20 years of the 20th Century, some wells were being drilled deeper into the Patapsco. But Raffensperger said the leveling off and in case cases slight rebound in the Aquia may cause a rethinking of that.

Commissioner Chris Gadway said the briefing was a good indication of the quantity of available groundwater, but he wanted to know about the quality of it, particularly in light of the PFAS contamination at the Navy base south of Chesapeake Beach.

Raffensperger said that wasn't in his bailiwick and suggested the commissioners ask Maryland Geological Survey to provide them with that information.

School Board Punts Chance for Communication

Fails to Deal with Commissioner Concerns

By Dick Myers
Staff Writer

“What we’ve got here is failure to communicate.”

That’s one of the most famous and most quoted lines in movie history. It comes from the opening scene of the 1967 flick “Cool Hand Luke,” in which the authoritarian prison captain played by character actor Strother Martin advises Paul Newman’s title character after he is beaten into submission.

Failure to communicate has been a mantra in this year’s Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) races and by the current commissioner board when criticizing the current Board of Education members.

At a recent BOCC meeting, the school board was chastised once again, this time for charging the county to use school facilities for recreation when the county doesn’t charge the school system for the use of the aquatics center and golf course. The county also maintains outdoor athletic fields.

When the proposed Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) that extends the existing arrangement was brought before the BOCC several weeks ago, Commissioner Chris Gadway said, “It appears that we, as the county government, are using the taxpayers’ dollars to pay the board of education twice for the same facility, once to build it and maintain it and then again to use it for something outside of students or possibly even during the school activities.”

Commissioner Mike Hart added, “We’re all supposed to be on the same team at the end of the day. They’re all our kids.”

Hart said, “I don’t want to sound petty, but it feels petty to me because we do a whole lot,” adding, “I know this is always such a touchy subject, but it just feels petty that we would get a bill when we don’t send a bill.”

Hart said, “We hear it all the time, we need better fields,” adding the money paid to the school board could be used for upgrades.

Gadway said, “The bottom line is any of these dollars are coming from the taxpayers, every single one of these dollars.”

Commissioner President Buddy Hance said, “We pay for 60 percent of the construction costs this year. We’re going to write them a check for $140 million, and they’re concerned over collecting $7,000 from us for using beans. Just think about that, ladies and gentlemen.”

At a school board meeting member Dawn Balinski observed the flap as reported by The County Times and asked for a report back from their staff.

At the Oct. 13 school board meeting, Chief of Operations Anthony Navarro presented the report on the MOU as if everything was fine between the two boards.

Hitting at the crux of the issue, Navarro said, “The board requires a custodial representative to be present

Calvert County Public Schools
Chief of Operations Anthony Navarro

when parks and rec indoor activities are held at schools are when our school offices are closed. The board representative shall be responsible for scheduling this representative. And this representative shall remain on site and available for custodial support of parks and rec activities. And a parks and rec representative will remain on site to enforce the rules and policies as set forth in the MOU and ensure the safety of the use.”

He noted the school system is billing the county $17,000 for the use.

But Balinski was perplexed. She said, “There were comments in the paper, I believe. Do you know what the complaints were on behalf of the county as far as their having to pay us?”

Navarro responded, “I do not Miss Balinski, but I can find out. I can ask Mrs. Vassallo (deputy county administrator), at the county level.”

Balinski said, “I was reading through, I thought that’s what this would be answering.”

Navarro responded to an inquiry from board member Pat Nutter if there had been any problems with the arrangement: “There are no issues that (have) come to my attention.”

He added, “I did review this with Mrs. Vassallo this week and she said she had some suggestions. So, she knew in advance what was going to be presented today.”

The commissioners decided to approve the MOU for a one-year extension instead of the requested five years in hopes of working things out with the school board in the next year, or at least with the new school superintendent, Dr. Andrae Townsel.

FINANCIAL FOCUS

HOW SHOULD YOU PAY FOR SHORT-TERM FINANCIAL GOALS?

Rotary

As you go through life, you will likely have long- and short-term financial goals. But how will your strategies for meeting your long-term goals differ from those needed for your short-term ones?

If you're like most people, your biggest long-term goal is achieving a comfortable retirement. And for this goal, a common strategy is putting away money in tax-advantaged retirement vehicles, such as your 401(k) and IRA.

So, how should you go about preparing for shorter-term goals, such as a family vacation, home renovation, wedding or major purchase?

For starters, determine what your goal is, how much you can spend on it and when you'll need the money. Even if you can't pinpoint a precise amount, you can develop a good estimate. Of course, the sooner you start this process, the better off you'll be, because you'll have more time to save.

Your next decision involves the manner in which you save for your short-term goal. Specifically, what savings or investment vehicles should you use? The answer will be different for everyone, but you need to make sure that your investments align with your risk tolerance and time horizon. And you'll want to ensure, as much as possible, that a certain amount of money is available for you at the specific time you'll need it.

If you aren't able to save enough to reach a short-term goal, you have other options — you can borrow what you need, or you can potentially sell investments to cover the cost. How can you decide which choice is best?

To help make up your mind, you'll first want to consider some of the most common borrowing options: credit cards, home equity loans, personal loans and margin loans. (A margin loan lets you borrow against the value of investments you already own). How might each of these loans fit into your overall financial strategy? Will the repayment schedule work with your cash flow and budget?

You'll then want to compare the costs and benefits of borrowing, in whatever form, against selling investments. For example, if you can borrow at a lower interest rate compared to the return you think you can get from your investments, borrowing might be a reasonable choice. You'll also need to consider other factors, such as your credit score, taxes, fees associated with selling investments and time needed to repay debts. If, for instance, selling investments will trigger a large amount of taxes, borrowing might be preferable. You'll also want to consider whether there's a penalty or high costs associated with selling investments. In addition, if you have a long time horizon for a loan, you may want to sell investments to avoid paying interest for a longer period of time, and thus driving up the overall cost of borrowing. Finally, keep in mind that you may have built an investment mix designed to align with your goals and risk tolerance. If you were to sell any of these investments to meet short-term needs, you would want to consider the need to rebalance your portfolio to maintain your desired asset allocation.

As you can see, there's a lot to think about when it comes to paying for short-term goals. But by carefully evaluating your options, you can make the choices that are right for your needs.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Brandon Russell has my support for County Commissioner. He has spent time meeting with various agency and department heads to learn what their needs and concerns are. He has come up with a very thoughtful and responsible set of plans to move our county and its citizens forward. We need this kind of proactive leadership, rather than the reactive and thoughtless (absence of thought or any kind of concern for the future of citizens) place keeping we have had for years. Vote for Brandon as though your future depends on it—because it does!

Diana Donahue
Mechanicsville, MD 20659

To the Editor:

Four More Years?

For the last 12 years, Todd Morgan has been Commissioner for Lexington Park and Great Mills. He ran unopposed twice. This year, for the first time, there are two new faces vying to replace term-limited Morgan.

Scott Ostrow is a businessman. He works as a defense contractor and moved here from out of state. He believes his business experience will provide him with the skills to hold office. Mr. Ostrow serves on the Tri-County Council, has raised his children in St. Mary's County, and is active in his church and community organizations. Todd Morgan is...

Actually, that entire paragraph describes him too. In fact, Mr. Morgan is the chair of the Tri-County Council, to which Mr. Ostrow was recently appointed. As far as this voter can tell, the only difference between Morgan and Ostrow is Ostrow supports the YMCA—something Morgan repeatedly voted against. Note, however, that the final vote for fully funding that project will lie with the new commissioners elected in November. Can we count on Ostrow to continue supporting the YMCA if he is elected?

Steve Tuttle is a Navy Veteran. He is currently working for a contractor on base, but he doesn't sit behind a desk in a suit. Every morning, Mr. Tuttle puts on his uniform and reports to a hangar on base where he spends his days as a self-described "wrench-turner." He is a proud member of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers. Steve has worked diligently to support his community. This voter found videos from 2020 where Mr. Tuttle specifically asks the county commissioners for pay parity for our police officers.

"In order to have a safe and healthy community and society, you need to pay your police officers, your teachers, and your bus drivers...what they are due," he said.

During the October 3rd candidate forum, Mr. Tuttle outlined quite deliberately that he absolutely supports our volunteer rescue squads. I've seen him at various rescue squad and fire department fundraisers, and I can tell he has a deep respect for these individuals.

At the same candidate forum, Mr. Ostrow agreed with Mr. Tuttle when saying he trusted educators to make the best decisions possible for the children they teach. More often than not, Mr. Ostrow said he agreed with what Mr. Tuttle responded. He even made a joke about it at the end of the debate!

So what is the difference between Ostrow & Morgan? This voter isn't sure, but I can tell you there is a difference between Ostrow and Tuttle. Mr. Tuttle has shown care and dedication to his community through acts of service.

Mr. Tuttle has worked with the WARM program for several years, directly helping our homeless population. He serves on the Animal Control Advisory Board, which recently celebrated the opening of the new St. Mary's County Animal Shelter. I would say he is more than ready for the job.

You can't run the government like a business—governing is about the people. This November you have a choice. Scott Ostrow will be four more years of Todd Morgan. Vote for Steve Tuttle and elect someone who focuses on people and who believes in strength in community.

BY AUTHORITY OF JOHN YOE - TREASURER

have served as a teacher, learning specialist and parent volunteer. Throughout my career I have seen first-hand the benefits a strong partnership between parents and teachers bring to our educational system.

If elected I will focus on being a voice and advocate for both parents and teachers, with the goal of providing the best education possible for our students. This includes creating a safe and welcoming learning environment for students from all backgrounds and a common-sense approach to what is being taught in the classroom.

Camile T. Khaleesi

I bring experience in shifting culture, increasing retention and best practices I'm recruiting. Additionally, I bring objective critical thinking and active listening skills. I have experience leading organizations successfully through change. I also have direct experience and knowledge of Special Education programing and processes.

Tracy H. McGuire

I was a school classroom and office volunteer, was elected HES PTA President, served on NMS PTA executive board, was President of the CCCPTAs, served as Treasurer for the Cub Scout Pack and the Boy Scout Troop, Cub Scout Pack Treasurer again, a catechist at my Church, and a School Board member from 2008 to 2020.

I came to my decision to run for school board a 4th time because I believe my demonstrated dedication, experience and knowledge can continue to serve my community to address the challenges of teacher shortages, student learning and well being, and meaningful community engagement.

Jana Post

I have four children currently enrolled in CCPS and am an active member of my community. I have experience in human resources management, budget development, and knowledge of procurement/contracts. I have served on several boards over the last 20 years. I will work to bring an ideological balance to our current board to better represent our community and represent all constituents to the maximum extent possible.

What are the three most important issues facing the Calvert County Public Schools in the next year that should be addressed by the school board.

Lisa Grenis

Following the pandemic, we need to make sure students are academically back on track. At the state and county level, scores are down. It is important to ensure students are excelling in the basics and on a path to pursue their interests whether college or technical training.

Full transparency is critical. For parents, teachers and students, there should be no surprises in the curriculum. This means ensuring learning materials are age-appropriate, without personal and political points of view.

Safety is top priority. Every CCPS school needs a certified SRO, and teachers, staff and students should be trained and prepared.

Camile T. Khaleesi

Retention and Recruiting, Student mental health, and budget allocation.

Tracy H. McGuire

Teacher shortages, student learning and wellbeing, and meaningful community engagement

Jana Post

Learning loss (especially for elementary school children), educational resources/training, school safety, and curriculum.

How will you balance the concerns of some parents about Critical Race Theory with the desires for equity in the classroom. Are they mutually exclusive?

Lisa Grenis

Schools are a place for learning and thinking, not ideological conditioning. Diversity, equity and inclusion make our schools better places to learn where everyone is treated with dignity and respect. Aspects of Critical Race Theory are creating levels of misunderstanding, distrust and division that do not belong in our schools. We want unity in our schools and equal opportunity for all students to reach their fullest potential.

Camile T. Khaleesi

I am always open and available to hear parent concerns and partner in finding solutions.

Tracy H. McGuire

Good news, parent concerns about CRT are unfounded. Equity in education can proceed without reference to manufactured concerns about something called CRT that is not part of the k-12 curriculum.

Jana Post

I would continue to educate the community about CRT and work to ensure that the efforts of CCPS are not focused on equal outcomes for every student. Instead of looking at everyone through a racial lense, the necessary resources each child needs to succeed. In addition, our policies reflecting discipline, etc. should be consistently applied and adhered to regardless of race.

Will you vote to change the policy limiting public comment to 10 speakers per meeting?

Lisa Grenis

Yes. The Board of Education is accountable to the citizens of Calvert County, and it is essential we provide an open forum for everyone to be heard. We want all points of view, so the Board is well informed and able to make decisions in the best interest of the parents, students, teachers and staff we serve.

Camile T. Khaleesi

Depending on when and how this comes to a vote yes, but it is not a pertinent question when there hasn't even been 10 commentators requesting to speak. This request has been a bullying tactic and could have been resolved through conversation and collaboration with fellow board members. I support any number of commentators who wish to speak on relevant topics.

Tracy H. McGuire

If the motion is to have unlimited public comment without any boundaries, i.e., comments limited to BoE policy, budget, decisions, I will vote no. If the BoE members want to modify current practice around public comment, I am happy to have the discussion with fellow Board members.

Jana Post

I would vote to lift the 10-person limit for public comment at BOE meetings.

Bill Bates

I will be a full time Delegate; I will not have any other employment. I will work on interim studies that might be assigned to my committee. I will hold Town Halls within the Counties. I will attend the County Commissioner meetings and hearings in both Calvert and St. Mary's counties. I will travel throughout both counties observing the activities and meeting with, and listening to, business owners, farmers, the residents, and government employees.

What other issues do you feel need to be addressed in your district if elected?

Todd Morgan

I will continue to work at being the liaison between the leadership of the Patuxent River Naval Air Station to the contractors and to our community. I will work diligently focusing on job creation, lowering taxes, supporting small business, promoting clean and usable waterways, and supporting our law enforcement officers and first responders.

Bill Bates

Small Business - I will work with the counties to identify taxes that can be reduced or eliminated. I will develop legislation that will stimulate existing businesses and encourage new businesses in Calvert and St. Mary's Counties. Preservation and protection of Natural Resource. Funding for renovation and development of Community / Recreation Centers.

Calvert County Commissioner District 3 (1)

What skills, talent or experience do you think you bring to the table that will help you be an effective county commissioner?

Catherine Grasso (R)

My work experience includes Manager of my agency's budget for five years.

I was known for conducting meetings that brought diverse individuals together while achieving positive outcomes.

It has been my honor to be President, Republican Women Leaders of Calvert as well as Chair, Calvert County Republican Central Committee. I consider this public service.

With the Calvert Memorial Hospital Foundation Ball Committee we raised funds for the hospital's expansion and upgrading.

As a member of the Calvert County Board of Library Trustee, I worked on the selection, layout and design of the new library in North Beach.

Darrell Roberts (D)

Father, Husband, Uncle and Friend. Worked on Uncles Farm growing up. Served with honor and integrity in two branches of the military. Deployed overseas for peacekeeping duties. Directed national nonprofit organization for almost 14 years, extensive knowledge in raising millions of dollars, creating, and managing budgets and employees. Helped tens of thousands of veterans and their families. Successfully worked across political lines. Union member, Sheet Metal Worker, BA in Business and Graduate Degree in Executive Leadership. Clarity on communications; approachable and transparent in my work. Common-sense approach to issues. I know who I work for- the residents of Calvert County.

What are the three most important issues facing Calvert County in the next year that should be addressed by the county commissioners.

Catherine Grasso

High-density, uncontrolled growth; abundant traffic and failing intersections; and school choice.

Darrell Roberts

Uncontrolled Growth, lack of transparency and accessibility of residents to attend public meetings given time and location. Safety and health of our citizens.

What changes if any would you make to the way things are currently operating in county government?

Catherine Grasso

My overwhelming responsibility would be to communicate with our taxpayers to obtain their comments and desire for the direction of our county. Keeping their feedback in mind, I would proceed strategically keeping in mind the cost/benefit.

Darrell Roberts

Move the Board of County Commissioners Day Meetings to Evening Meetings, so residents have a better chance to attend. Incorporate Town Hall Meetings periodically throughout the county. The town halls should be based upon a criterion of need and time frame.

How much growth should Calvert accommodate in the next 10 years?

Catherine Grasso

Quality of life in Calvert County is under siege. Citizens moved to Maryland's smallest county for its rural character and quality of life that is afforded us in this county. High-density residences on top of commercial businesses will definitely exacerbate an overabundance of traffic and gridlock.

We need to pause development, reevaluate the best and most realistic way to move forward with Calvert's infrastructure while taking into consideration what our taxpayers have demanded since 2018. Then we proceed strategically.

We need to take a look at our zoning laws, ordinances and regulations that exist today. In any given scenario, the proposed fourteen residences per acre is too much.

Darrell Roberts

Calvert County should only accommodate growth that is well thought out, necessary, and strategically planned. Those growth plans should undergo the necessary steps to ensure that any and all environmental issues or concerns are addressed. Most importantly, that residents are aware of and approve of the proposed growth.

Calvert County At-Large Board of Education (2)

What are your top priorities if elected to the delegate's seat?

Todd Morgan

1. Lower taxes for Maryland families. I will continue to be an effective steward of your taxpayer dollars and will fight to reduce taxes in Annapolis.
2. Support Law Enforcement and First Responders. I am a longtime supporter of law enforcement and first responders. I will make sure they receive the full support and funding they deserve as they put their lives on the line for us every day.
3. Champion Small Business. Small Businesses are the backbone of our community. I will continue to support them, work together to create new jobs, and ensure they receive our full support. I will be their voice in Annapolis.
4. Empower Education. I will always make sure parents and students have a voice when it comes to education. As your delegate, I will advocate for your tax dollars to go to the classroom.

Bill Bates

Infrastructure: Solomons Bridge replacement construction to begin now. The replacement bridge must be designed to allow for pedestrian use, emergency pull-off lanes, and barriers to prevent suicide. Continue the installation of the internet.

Education: Maintain funding for, The Blueprint for Maryland's Future a program that provides voluntary Pre-Kindergarten for 3- and 4-year-old children.

Entry Level Housing: Develop programs to incentivize the building of homes that are affordable for entry level: teachers, nurses, law enforcement officers, engineers and other young people that want to work and raise families here.

Emergency Services: Increase tax credit for Volunteers. Funding for equipment and facilities.

What infrastructure problems need the most attention in your district?

Todd Morgan

- I see the following as key infrastructure problems that will require my attention:
1. A new Thomas Johnson Bridge
 2. The redesign and build of the Great Mills Rd. / Rt. 5 intersection up to Rt. 249
 3. Highway safety initiatives including Rt. 235 and Rt. 231
 4. Funding for our regional parks including Dominion Park and greater waterfront access for our citizens.
- Through my long, extensive experience and working relationship with Federal and State officials I will work to identify sources and obtain funding for these projects.

Bill Bates

Putting the Solomons Bridge replacement on a fast track to begin construction now, not years from now. The replacement bridge must be designed to allow for pedestrian use, emergency pull-off lanes, and barriers to prevent suicide. The bridge is vitally important to our local economy, and to the people who use it to commute to work daily. We must continue the installation of the internet / broadband to all our communities.

What would you do in the off months when the General Assembly is not in session?

Todd Morgan

I will be available to my constituents on a continual basis and be responsive to their needs and concerns. I intend to open a local office and I would hire a local legislative assistant to ensure that citizens have access to me if I were unavailable. I will use social media platforms to promote communication. I will work with both sets of County Commissioners on issues where assistance in Annapolis is required.

country. Preparing Maryland's children for global competition in tomorrow's economy is vital.

What infrastructure problems need the most attention in your district?

Deb Rey

Rt 5 between Great Mills Road and Indian Bridge needs to be widened and the bridge replaced. I will work with the State Highway Administration and the county to complete planning and work to secure funding for the project. The Southampton neighborhood needs improved sewer and water lines and new sidewalks. County government is already working this, but I will keep an eye on the project and be an advocate for the citizens to ensure their needs are addressed. We need protected left turns at Shangri La and Great Mills and at the intersection of Hermanville Road and Rt 235.

Brian Crosby

People come to St. Mary's County for its economic opportunity and enjoy its beauty. The top infrastructure projects in my district are the intersection at Route 5 and Great Mills, the light at Hermanville Road and Route 235, and the intersection at Buck Hewitt and Route 235. We secured an additional $10m for the intersection at Route 5 and Great Mills and will work with the next administration to complete the project.

What would you do in the off months when the General Assembly is not in session?

Deb Rey

When not in session, I will make myself available to meet with constituents and help them resolve issues involving federal, state or local government. I will work on drafting legislation and building support for the legislation requested by constituents. I'll work with State offices to ensure our infrastructure projects stay on track. I will also work with the University System of Maryland to bring more degrees to the Southern Maryland campus.

Brian Crosby

I work full-time as a project management consultant on Webster Field. Additionally, while the legislature is technically part-time, we still work year-round to provide important constituent services such as helping businesses apply for loans, organizations apply for grants, and individuals apply for state aid. We also work with community stakeholders in the "off season" as we develop legislation and work to address issues facing the community.

What other issues do you feel need to be addressed in your district if elected?

Deb Rey

The needs I hear most often from constituents are more activities for our kids, increased mental health services, lower taxes, and replacement of the Thomas Johnson bridge. I'll work with the commissioners, the Economic Development office and community groups to build a comprehensive list of youth activities, and mental health services. Then we can focus on encouraging other businesses to come to St Mary's to fill the gaps. I'll work to make Maryland a retirement friendly state by voting to lower taxes. And work with the Southern Maryland legislators to lobby for the replacement of the Thomas Johnson bridge.

Brian Crosby

Four years ago, St. Mary's County received $0.00 from Annapolis. Over the past four years, we have fought every day to ensure St. Mary's County received its fair share from the State budget. We've brought back over $250m to the county in our first term. In four years, I became the Vice Chair of Economic Matters and am the first-ever freshman to hold a leadership position. Along with Chair CT Wilson from Charles County, Southern Maryland has a strong voice in how Maryland's economy is shaped over the next 50 years. I want to continue to serve, as my life is dedicated to my community and country. Truly, we've only gotten started.

Steve Tuttle has been fighting for St. Mary's County for long before he decided to run for office. It's time to elect someone who understands the changing needs of our citizens and is willing to fight for your freedoms.

ST. MARY'S COUNTY GENERAL ELECTION

GUIDE

St. Mary's County Board of Education

What is the top challenge or priority facing the school system?

Marsha Williams

One of the top challenges facing the school system will be meeting the standards of the Blueprint for Maryland's Future. SMCPS will need to work towards the implementation of the Blueprint by making sure that schools are in compliance with meeting its policy areas: (1) early childhood education, (2) high-quality and diverse teachers and leaders; (3) college and career readiness pathways; (4) more resources to ensure all students are successful; and (5) governance and accountability.

Dorothy Andrews

The top priority facing the public school system is to ensure parents/guardians that reading and writing literacy has been achieved. Whether someone attends college or chooses a career or trade after high school, they will be successful. The challenge is how to implement it. It should be based upon completion of the third grade. It is achievable, but there are challenges. As a matter-of-fact, the State Board of Education has not released reading and writing assessment test scores. Our local school board must act. Why take tests if they are not reviewed and implemented to strengthen areas needing improvement.

What policies would you advocate for or change if elected?

Marsha Williams

Not all students will attend college after graduation. More focus should be given to career readiness and learning skills. Not only do students need to learn the fundamentals: reading, writing, and math, but they also need to learn essential life skills such as financial literacy, job readiness skills, etc. Additionally, I would work towards increasing community partnerships in order to increase internships and externship opportunities.

Dorothy Andrews

I will advocate for a Parental Rights Bill giving parents the assurance that they have a strong voice when it comes to their children's lives in all health decisions, curriculum that is focused on the core subjects, history taught based on historical facts, and any social justice or gender identity issues be left out of schools because it is the parents right to teach based on their morals and convictions.

What would you do about discipline problems in school?

Marsha Williams

Addressing the discipline problems in schools requires a multifaceted approach. I would review the SMCPS' student code of conduct and make sure that it is being followed consistently. I would advocate for School Resource Officers to be in every school, mental health counselors to be in every middle and high school, and increase the number of safety assistants in each school. Additionally, I would advocate for more parental and community involvement since the fights that occur in the high schools are often due to what has happened in the community.

Dorothy Andrews

The school policy manual reinforces good discipline as their first measure to correct behavior. I get the best return possible. Education funding should follow the child so the parent can pick the best environment for their child's success.

Brian Crosby

Economic diversity, infrastructure, education. Continuing to augment our economy with diverse industries better positions us against future rounds of BRAC. Second, the Route 5 and Great Mills intersection is woefully inadequate for our region. We must expand the number of vehicles that can travel that intersection daily—I secured an additional $10m for it and will work with the next administration to complete the project.

agree with this, but no matter the incident, I feel that the parents have a right to know immediately. If it continues, there must be guidelines to follow when other actions need to be pursued. All students deserve to learn and all teachers deserve respect.

Would you work to increase parent input and participation in the school system?

Marsha Williams

I would work to improve communication between parents and the board/schools. Parents need to know when curriculum is under review, the policies being proposed, programs that their child can apply for, how the Blueprint for Maryland's Future will be implemented locally, etc. I would advocate for disseminating information from the school board and schools in a consistent manner so that all parents know where to find information.

Dorothy Andrews

Yes, I would work to increase parental input and participation. I have already started helping parents see how important it is to be involved.

Commissioners Push for Better Cell Service at Fairgrounds

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Cellular phone service at the St. Mary's County Fair Grounds has been lacking over the years but a new lease agreement authorized by the Commissioners of St. Marys' County this week with Verizon could help solve that problem.

The agreement, which county commissioners unanimously approved at their Oct. 18 meeting, will allow Verizon to install commercial cellular reception equipment on the tower owned by the fairgrounds at no cost to the telecommunication magnate, which means an abatement of lease payments for the next 12 years.

Commissioner Todd Morgan initially asked why the county would allow use of the publicly owned cell tower without paying what would come to $250,000.

Bob Kelly, director of the Department of Information Technology, said the county was not in the "strongest negotiating position."

"Verizon has a five-year plan and a 10-year plan," Kelly said. "This location was not in their five-year plan."

But the enhanced communication, and hence security, capability that would be afforded to the nearby cluster of Leonardtown middle and high schools as well as the Dr. James A. Forrest Technical Center as well as first responders and citizens at the fairgrounds outweighed the cost to the county, said Commissioner John O'Connor.

"I think we're actually making out on the deal economically," O'Connor said.

After 12 years the agreement calls for payments to the St. Mary's County Fair Board of $24,000 a year for use of the cell phone tower.

Kelly said that the agreement should provide even better service as it moves ahead year over year.

"It'll be even better coverage next year as the antennae won't be 15 feet off the ground but about 140 feet high," Kelly said.

Check Theft Plaguing St. Mary's, Southern Maryland

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

For months county residents, businesses and community organizations have been victimized by check theft, being taken for sometimes thousands of dollars time and again.

Local law enforcement agencies have been investigating and warning residents to avoid sending checks in the mail but the thefts continue.

Officials with the U.S. Postal Inspectors Service have received local investigations begun by the St. Mary's County Sheriff's Office but have not released details of how the thefts are committed or if there are any potential suspects.

According to law enforcement and victims, the thieves are intercepting the checks, either at a postal center or from individual mail boxes and "washing" — or altering — the payee names and monetary amounts on the checks and then cashing them.

Sheriff Timothy K. Cameron said anyone using the mail to send checks should reconsider.

"Some habits die hard," Cameron said. "People would really have to consider the security of their sent mail with checks.

"This is clearly a focused ring of people doing this." "We've seen some massive amounts written on these intercepted checks," said Jason Babcock, spokesman for the county sheriff's office.

Dan Slade, a Leonardtown-based attorney, said several checks of his were stolen and altered in an attempt to bilk thousands from his accounts.

Only one check was fraudulently cashed, Slade said, but his bank was able to catch the rest.

"We were paying our monthly bills... and someone stole our checks," Slade told The County Times. "The next thing we knew we had checks being cashed all across the country."

The inconvenience of the thefts is coupled with paying a monitoring fee to the bank, Slade said — sometimes as much as an extra $100 per month — to ensure against stolen checks being cashed.

"You get hit multiple times," Slade said. "You don't consider that when you put your mail in the U.S. Postal Service."

One employee of a local federal contractor said their business had been taken for many checks that they had sent out to vendors, who went unpaid for a time because of the theft.

They said the check thefts meant the company had to shut down multiple accounts, reopen them and pay back those vendors who had gone without remuneration.

The company effectively had to pay double, they said, because of the theft scheme.

"What we've been told is it's unsafe to put checks in the mail," the employee said. "It's [check thefts] been bad in the area, there's a lot going on."

The theft has hurt their employers credit rating, they said, and even resulted in bounced checks.

"It's been a tremendous amount of work and a great deal of strain," the employee said.

The employee said they had heard reports that there was a theft ring operating out of the postal hub in Waldorf or elsewhere nearby; they had heard reports of local victims' checks being cashed as far away as Florida and Ohio.

The U.S. Postal Inspector's Office has not confirmed this.

Jeff Dronenberg, a Lexington Park resident, said two checks he sent out from the California and Lexington Park post offices to two separate destinations — Baltimore and Delaware — had only two things in common his name and the Waldorf postal facility.

"They never made it to their destinations," Dronenberg said. "They hit me for $13,000; they hit accounts hard and they hit them quickly."

His money was insured by the federal government and he didn't lose a dime, Dronenberg said, but he will never send a check through the U.S. Postal Service again.

"I've stopped," Dronenberg said. "I will not send a check in the mail.

"The postal service is broken."

"The US Postal Inspection Service is currently investigating theft of US mail in St. Mary's County and the surrounding area," said postal inspection representative Michael Martel in a prepared statement. "The US Postal Inspection Service is investigating these incidents along with our local law enforcement partners and the US Postal Service Office of Inspector General.

"Unfortunately, we are unable to share any details at this time, as the investigation is active and ongoing."

Both Calvert and Charles county sheriff's offices have warned residents of the trend in thefts.

"The [Charles County Sheriff's Office] encourages citizens to use alternative means of money transfer, such as paying bills online or electronic transfers, as this crime trend remains active," one notice stated.

"It is imperative that citizens and businesses track the checks they have written and ensure that they have been cleared appropriately.

"By using these steps and remaining diligent, citizens can assist law enforcement in curbing this crime trend."

Charles warned their citizens last week while Calvert made their warning in mid-September.

The St. Mary's Sheriff's office released just a short list of recent check thefts.

In recent weeks deputies have taken reports from:

- a business at 44000 block of Airport Road
- an individual at 25000 block of Morganza Turner Road
- an individual at 28000 block of Three Notch Road
- an individual at 21000 block of Primrose Place
- an individual at 20000 block of Clarence Gass Road
- a business at 26000 block of Friendship School Road
- an individual at 43000 block of Redmond Road
- an individual at 21000 block of Morris Drive
- an individual at 43000 block of Airport View Drive
- an individual at 22000 block of Three Notch Road
- a business at 44000 block of Commerce Avenue

These instances are from the month of September alone, sheriff's officials said.

If you suspect you are a victim of mail theft you can report it to the US Postal Inspection Service by calling 1-877-876-2455 or online at USPIS.gov/report.

Resident Continues Demand for Action on Air BNBs

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

Since October of 2020 Ellyne Brice Davis has complained of the continual operations of Air BNBs on her waterfront street in Leonardtown with apparently no satisfaction from the county government.

Davis, who ran this year for a seat on the Orphan's Court as a Republican, continued her call for action.

She lives with her husband, school board member Jim Davis, on Waterside Drive.

"At that time [Oct. of 2020] two Air BNBs operated in a 13-house span on our vintage, residential waterfront street in the critical area," Davis told the Commissioners of St. Mary's County at a Oct. 18 evening public forum in Leonardtown. "Now there are four of them."

Davis said it was "inevitable" that the Marriott hotel chain would partner with Air BNB to take the reservations for those guest stays.

"Once that happens will the commissioners finally agree that I live 15 feet away from a commercial motel?" Davis asked. "When one of the world's largest hotel chains... recognizes Air BNBs as commercial motels and the St. Mary's County attorney has ruled that Air BNBs are taxed as commercial then Air BNB must be a duck."

Davis has long argued that the Air BNB operating next door to her has negatively impacted her quality of life and her property; she said Commissioner President James "Randy" Guy walked her property with her two years ago to view her issue first hand.

She said at the forum that Guy had told her he might be able to propose a text amendment to the zoning ordinance to address the problem, specifically limiting stays at such establishments to one, month-long stay each.

Davis asked for restrictions on Air BNBs in St. Mary's in January of 2021 similar to what has been done in Chesapeake Beach in Calvert County, she said.

Davis said further communication from the commissioners has stated they need more time to study the issue before taking action.

Outraged residents of Abell got a zoning text amendment to regulate any further buildout of cannabis growing, processing and distributing facilities in rural areas of the county, Davis said.

She was waiting for similar results, she said.

"There's clearly a double standard here and I'm disappointed my issue has been treated in such a dismissive manner by the current commissioners," said Davis.

“L’town Alley” Mural Project Nearing Completion

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

A public art project designed to bring even more attention to the downtown center of Leonardtown and its businesses is almost complete; the final mural of the L’Town Alley effort is set for a Nov. 3 ribbon cutting, said Town Administrator

Naluai. The second mural unveiled was in September — the “Alice in Leonardtown” mural — painted on the town-owned storage building situated across from the Good Earth Natural Food Store, painted by by artists Dan Ropp and Tom Rogers has many hidden Leonardtown objects

Laschelle McKay. “It’s designed to create a gathering space where people want to be,” McKay said. “It’s to connect people to the town square and to the businesses on Fenwick Street.”

It’s one of the next major steps in the far-reaching plan of the town to revitalize the town square in keeping with the town’s state designation as an official Arts and Entertainment district.

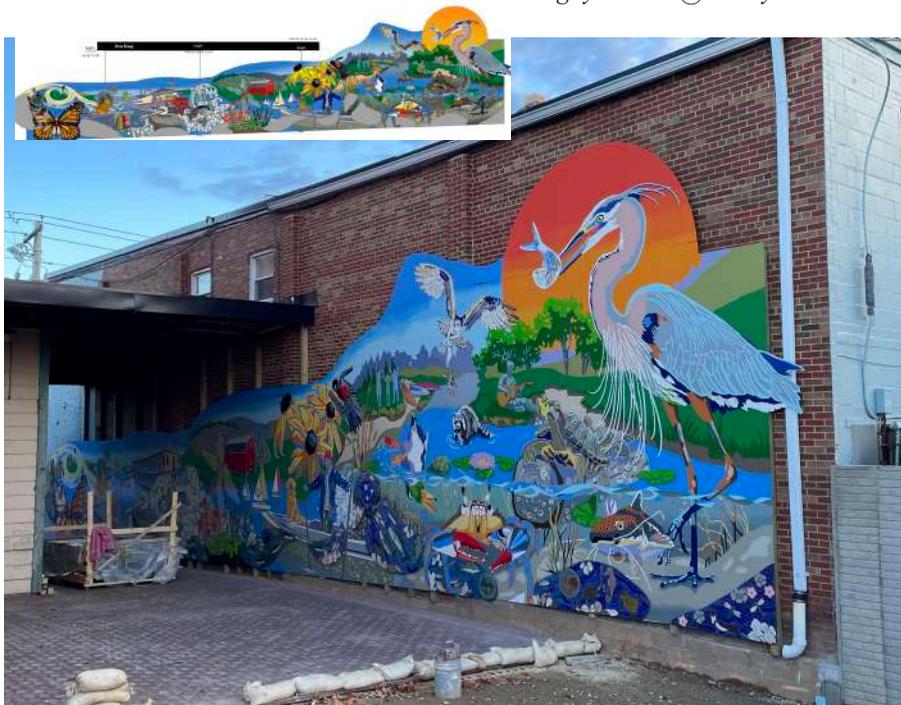

The murals in alleys surrounding the town square provide public-friendly gathering spaces but also sites for town-sanctioned public events, McKay said, which is another feature of the town’s push for more community activities centered in the down town.

The first mural was officially unveiled in June at the New View Fiber Works building; it was the “Where Art and Agriculture Meet” mural painted by Jamie contained within. The final mural is “Bay Life: Legends and Lore” painted in the Duke Street alley This double walled mural project was conceived and created by a team of artists from North End Gallery: Toni Wolf, Sarah Houde, Jeanne Hammett, Denise Breitburg, Parran Collery, and Diana Manchak, with help from over 50 volunteers andfeaturing glass additions by Mary Ida Rolape.

The artwork is comprised of two mural panels “an 80-foot-long artistic love letter to the natural beauty of the St. Mary’s region on one wall, with a 20-foot-long celebration of Leonardtown history on the facing wall,” a town press release reads. “The design combines brightly painted scenes with undulating ceramic mosaic panels, creating a multi medium visual and tactile experience.”

Cameron to Lead Western Law Enforcement Agency

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

After approximately 16 years as Sheriff of St. Mary's County, Timothy K. Cameron has decided to take a position as Colonel of the Wyoming Highway Patrol.

Sgt. Jeremy Beck, spokesman for the Wyoming agency, said Cameron will begin leading the organization starting in January of 2023.

Cameron has spoken in recent months of seeking another law enforcement job, possibly out of state.

Capt. Steve Hall recently won the GOP primary to succeed Cameron as sheriff; there are no Democrat challengers

"I am honored to have been selected as the Colonel of the Wyoming Highway Patrol and am eager to assume the Administrator's duties," said Cameron in a prepared statement. "My appreciation to Governor [Mark] Gordon, Director Reiner, and all those involved in the selection process for the opportunity to live and work in Wyoming and be part of such an exemplary, storied agency."

In a later interview Cameron said past trips to the state made a significant impression on him, so much so that he wanted to find a way to live and work there.

"I was taken with the beauty, the grandeur and how huge it was," Cameron said of the Cowboy State. "It's all about a new adventure for me and for my wife."

Cameron said he envisioned this would be a "last post" for him in his long law enforcement career.

Cameron said he was impressed with the capabilities of the agency and found that citizens there hold it in high regard.

"It's not a huge agency but it has huge responsibility," Cameron said.

There are just 208 troopers in Wyoming, he said.

There are about 580,000 residents in Wyoming in an area of 98,000 square miles.

Wyoming Highway Patrol troopers are primarily focused on traffic enforcement, crash investigation but also provide physical security for the governor and the state house.

The highway patrol also focuses on drug and human trafficking interdiction, Cameron said.

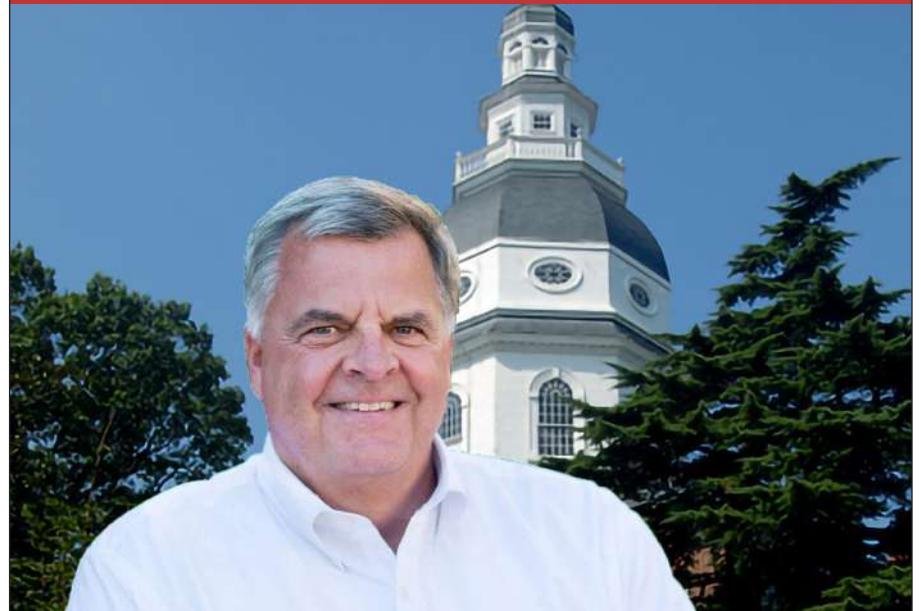

"It's going to be a complete learning curve for me," Cameron said. "I'm going to be learning all of this and doing it."

Wyoming officials said Cameron was selected after a lengthy process.

"Cameron's commitment to training and education are attributes that will help him succeed in his service to Wyoming," said Luke Reiner, director of the Wyoming Department of Transportation (WYDOT). "He has the demonstrated skillset, experience, and character to lead the best highway patrol organization in the nation."

Cameron earned an undergraduate degree at Johns Hopkins University and a postgraduate degree from Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, MD. In addition to his degrees, Cameron is a graduate of the National Sheriff's Institute, the FBI's Law Enforcement Executive Development course, the Maryland Police and Corrections Training Commissions Leadership Challenge, the Executive Leaders Program at Naval Postgraduate School's Center for Homeland Defense and Security in California, and the Police Executive Research Forum's Senior Management in Policing Course at Boston University.

Shots Fired, One Hurt at Shopping Center

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

St. Mary's law officers responded to reports of shots being fired at the Patuxent Crossing Shopping Center, formerly known as San Souci Shopping Center, on MacArthur Boulevard Oct. 18, police reported, and later found a victim shot in the leg on Columbus Drive in Lexington Park.

The shooting occurred at the site of the shopping center that contained the post office, residents reported, at about 12:45 p.m.

Jason Babcock, sheriff's office spokesman, said the victim was transported to a hospital with non-life-threatening wounds.

There were multiple shots fired but just one shooter, Babcock said of what early reports indicated.

"There were a lot of witnesses and the investigation is continuing," Babcock said.

Great Mills Post Office Moving

By Guy Leonard
Staff Writer

The U.S. Postal Service has announced that it has decided to close the existing post office in Great Mills on Route 5 near the intersection with Great Mills Road, though it has yet to say exactly where the new post office will be.

In a letter to the Commissioners of St. Mary's County, the postal service would only say that the new office would be in a "location as close as reasonably possible to the former location."

The post office located at 20210 Point Lookout Road has been in operation there for more than 40 years but now the landlord of the property has decided not to renew the lease, the missive to county leaders stated, which means the postal service must find a new retail site.

The letter to the commissioners was dated Sept. 27 but elected leaders received it Oct. 13.

The postal service plans to keep the current site open and operational for customers, the letter stated, until the new site is opened.

"While the postal service is sensitive to the impact of this decision on its customers and the community, the postal service properly considered community input and this decision is consistent with postal service objectives," the missive reads. "Postal service operations are not supported by tax dollars.

"To be self-sustaining, the postal service must make decisions that ensure it provides adequate and affordable postal services in a manner that is as efficient and economical as possible."

The letter confirmed that the decision of the postal service to leave its current site in Great Mills was final and that no further appeals would be reviewed.

In March of 2021 the postal service communicated that they intended to move the facility to a new site of approximately 3,800 square feet in size.
